

Romney Still Not Endorsing Sen. Goldwater

By The Associated Press
Despite a battery of face-to-face endorsements and come-ons from Barry Goldwater, Gov. George Romney hasn't budged an inch in his refusal to endorse the Republican candidate for president.

Romney stepped gingerly through two meetings with the Arizona senator along Michigan's campaign trail Saturday. Polite—yes. Enthusiastic—no. Goldwater spent most of Saturday in Michigan concentrating on a plea for Republican unity.

But when it was over the result was about the same as his meeting earlier in the week with New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller—lots of praise for Goldwater's hard work for the GOP, pointed references by the governors to him as the "Republican candidate for president," not "the next president," and no endorsements.

No Personal Clash
Romney introduced Goldwater to a crowd of about 12,000 in Detroit's Cobo Hall Saturday night and obliquely—if not head-on—tackled the question of his lack of endorsement for the senator.

He quoted Goldwater as saying at San Francisco, "we seek and cherish diversity of ways, diversity of thoughts, of motives and accomplishments."

He quoted Goldwater as saying at Hershey, "as a party, we have sincere and lively differences of opinion within our ranks, we're the better for that, because we are not a conformist organization..."

And then Romney added, "I subscribe wholeheartedly to his view that conformity does not strengthen the party."

Romney has maintained that his differences with Goldwater are on issues and opinions, not personalities.

Sits On Platform

Romney drew a scattering of boos in Detroit—apparently from Republicans who think he should endorse Goldwater. But Goldwater, as he did at stops in Niles and Midland, told the crowd to vote for Romney for governor.

The pair's meeting at the Midland County fairgrounds followed no one's script. Goldwater's staff thought Romney would introduce the senator to an ooze of crowd of about 4,000.

Romney said early Saturday he had never agreed to introduce Goldwater at Midland, and expected to be gone from the fairgrounds by the time Goldwater arrived.

But Romney was just finishing his speech as Goldwater arrived. They shook hands, then Romney sat on the back rail of the platform while Goldwater spoke.

At neither Midland nor Detroit did Romney step right to the rostrum with Goldwater for the arms-around-each-other, broad-smile poses typical of low-party candidates.

Contract Talks Speeded Up By Union And GM

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors and the United Auto Workers Union tried a double-barreled approach today in seeking to end a strike of more than a quarter-million GM workers around the nation.

Negotiators met for two hours Sunday and agreed to expedite discussions on some 18,000 local at-the-plant demands while trying to settle differences on a national contract.

Workers walked off their jobs at 89 GM plants Friday, shutting down production of the company's 1965 model cars.

Money Matters Settled
The union's non-economic demands—such as improved working conditions and increased union representation—were major stumbling blocks to accord on a new national labor contract.

Both sides agree that negotiations over money matters have been virtually wrapped up along lines of the economic package already accepted by the union from Ford and Chrysler.

GM Vice President Louis Seaton, who heads the company's bargaining team, said there was no discussion Sunday on any of the issues which touched off the massive walk-out, and the company took no new proposals to the bargaining table.

Seaton said he was neither more optimistic nor pessimistic about the outlook for solving the problems than he was when negotiations broke off last week.

"But the attitude exhibited was in the direction of getting this settled," he commented.

Many Loose Ends
UAW President Walter Reuther said that by expediting local-level negotiations, the two sides were trying to tie up loose ends in advance to see if this wouldn't hasten national agreement.

Not all of GM's 131 plants have been shut down by the current strike. The union ordered workers at factories turning out parts and accessories for GM's competitors to stay on the job.

The UAW estimated that about 260,000 workers—or 65 per cent of its membership—were taking part in the walkout.

Jack Steele, an employee in the Burlington's Montgomery control tower, told authorities: "According to my boards, both trains had clear tracks."

The eastbound Rock Island train had stopped at a block signal. The Burlington train, the Ak-Sar-Ben Zephyr westbound from Chicago to Omaha, was using the eastbound track.

DELTON (AP) — A routine door check of business places erupted early today into a pitched battle of gunfire between two burglary suspects and police from seven agencies.

Barry County Sheriff's Sgt. Ralph Ross estimated 250 to 300 rounds of ammunition were fired. No one was reported injured. A 16-year-old companion.

Captured after tear gas was exploded in the hardware store where they were surprised were Ronald Pinks, 20, of Plainwell, and a 16-year-old companion.

Officers say the two denied the shooting. With Barry County's jail closed by the state, the two were taken to the Eaton County Jail at Charlotte pending formal action.

The incident began when two Barry County deputies on a door check of Delton business places spotted two subjects inside a hardware store.

The officers were met by gunfire when they tried to enter. Their call for help was answered by a force of some 25 officers including state police from Wayland and Battle Creek posts, Hastings police, Nashville's police chief and other officers from Barry, Eaton and Calhoun sheriff's departments.

Homes across from the hardware store were evacuated and a four-block area was blocked off while the battle raged.

Study Ordered On Protection Of Presidents

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Warren Commission's report on President John F. Kennedy's assassination has sparked a demand that Congress act at once to improve presidential security.

While the commission's findings — and criticisms of the FBI and Secret Service — were being relayed to the world, President Johnson swiftly appointed a four-man committee to advise him "on the execution" of the commission's recommendations.

The main conclusion by the seven-man presidential commission is that Lee Harvey Oswald, acting alone and not as part of any foreign or domestic conspiracy, murdered President Kennedy. It said Jack Ruby acted as a loner in gunning down Oswald two days later.

The main recommendation of the commission in its 888-page report, made public Sunday night, is legislation — to tighten protection of presidents and to make the killing of a president or a vice president a federal crime.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said Congress should stay on the job to act on such recommendations even though it is adjournment.

But whether President Johnson plans to submit any legislative proposals along these lines apparently will await the advice of the four-man committee he appointed — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, acting Atty. Gen. Nicholas deB. Katzenbach, Director John A. McCone of the Central Intelligence Agency, and McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to the President for national security affairs.

South Viet Nam Troops Capture Camp Of Rebels

BAN ME THUOT, South Viet Nam (AP) — Hundreds of Vietnamese army troops poured into the center of the tribal rebellion in central Viet Nam today, hoisting the Vietnamese flag over the Buon Sar Pa camp for the first time since the revolt began nine days ago.

The march into the camp, which is almost on the Cambodian border, was backed up by about 1,000 paratroopers and rangers. Some 300 of the rebel mountain tribesmen were inside, but none of them reportedly resisted the takeover.

The seizure of Buon Sar Pa came a few hours after U.S. helicopters evacuated U.S. Army Col. John H. Freund of New York and 12 American Special Forces men from the camp. Freund had been in the camp for a week as a combination hostage and transmitter of messages between the rebels and the Vietnamese government.

Freund was exhausted when he returned to Ban Me Thuot, 25 miles from the camp and went to bed.

None of the ranking rebel leaders, including Y Bham, reportedly was in the camp when it was seized.

Premier Nguyen Khanh spent an hour at Buon Sar Pa and said on his return to Ban Me Thuot: "We made no deals with them. Our forces are in the camp. The Vietnamese flag is flying."

An aide said the rebel surrender at the camp was unconditional, but that some of the rebel leaders would attend a meeting in Ban Me Thuot later to discuss some of their demands with government authorities.

The U.S. Army had more than 40 helicopters at Ban Me Thuot, some of them armed with rockets and machine guns, for use in case of trouble. They did not participate in the march into Buon Sar Pa except to remove the Americans earlier in the day.

'Stop Talking' Hoover's Advice To Dallas Chief
WASHINGTON (AP) — Stop talking was the advice FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover gave the Dallas police chief last November.

The Warren Commission said that after President John F. Kennedy was assassinated, the Dallas police gave a "running commentary" to news media, sometimes imparting hearsay and even erroneous information.

"On Sunday after Oswald was shot, Hoover dispatched a personal message to [Police Chief Jesse E.] Curry requesting him 'not to go on the air any more until this case is resolved'."

Hoover testified later that Curry agreed not to make any more statements.

Oswald Called Lone Killer In Warren Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lee Harvey Oswald, hostile to his world and hungry for fame, assassinated President John F. Kennedy and shot his way to infamy without the help of any conspiracy, the Warren Commission reports.

And Jack Ruby also acted as a loner when he gunned down Oswald in the Dallas jail two days after the President's death, the commission said in its report to President Johnson which was made public Sunday night.

It told Johnson there were loopholes in presidential protection, and urged that the murder of a President or vice president be made a federal crime. It criticized some operations of the Secret Service, the FBI, Dallas police and the news media.

The President promptly named a four-man group to advise him on the commission's recommendations. And Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said that if White House recommendations come, Congress "should stay in session to carry them out."

Gov. Connally Agrees
Among the first to comment on the commission's findings was Robert F. Kennedy, brother of the late President. The former attorney general, now running for the U.S. Senate in New York, said the commission's inquiry was thorough and conscientious, and that he was satisfied it had "investigated every lead and examined every piece of evidence."

He said he did not intend to read the report.

Texas Gov. John B. Connally, who was riding with Kennedy when the President was assassinated last Nov. 22 in Dallas, said he agreed fully with the Warren Commission's conclusions.

The general feeling in Dallas was that the commission's report amounted to a verdict of innocent for the city where Kennedy met death.

Overseas, the British press generally agreed that the commission came up with an honest and competent report. But the report was denounced by the Communist press.

Guilt Pinned Down
The Warren report pinned down Oswald's guilt, to the commission's own unqualified certainty, under a weight of eyewitness testimony and other evidence far more massive than was believed to exist.

It revealed muddled testimony from Oswald's pretty Russian-speaking widow, Marina, that her unstable husband seven months earlier had threatened to kill former Vice President Richard M. Nixon with a pistol.

But Oswald might actually have been threatening Johnson, not Nixon, the commission said. It was Johnson, then vice president, who was in Dallas at the time. His visit, April 23, 1963, was just 13 days after Oswald fired a nighttime rifle shot that just missed former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker.

The 888-page report by Chief Justice Earl Warren and six distinguished colleagues urged creation of a Cabinet committee to assume top responsibility for presidential safety.

This new body might consider, the report urged, "suggestions" made to the commission — but not specifically endorsed by it — that the duty of protecting presidents be removed from the Secret Service. The executive and Congress should make the decision, it said.

Official Failure Cited
The report praised the swift action of individual agents in the November tragedy. The response of some "was in the highest tradition of government service," it said.

But the report called for more funds and personnel immediately, better lines of coordination between agencies, and a "complete overhaul" of advance detection practices.

It noted Kennedy's own comment to an aide, on the day he died — that: "If anybody really wanted to shoot the President of the United States, it was not a very difficult job — all one had to do

Lake Superior Test Blasts Start Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP) — A series of controlled chemical explosions is scheduled in Lake Superior beginning Thursday and it is hoped the shock waves can be detected as far away as California.

Announcing this, the Geological Survey said the experiment is expected to provide new data on the earth's crust and upper mantle. It is being conducted on behalf of the Advance Research Projects Agency of the Defense Department.

L. C. Pakiser, chief of the survey's branch of crustal studies at Denver, explained that data on travel patterns of seismic waves through the earth not only provide valuable geologic information but also are useful in detecting underground nuclear tests—as distinguished from earthquake shocks.

Down To 600 Feet
The survey, with the assistance of the Coast Guard cutter Woodrush, and a Navy demolition team, will place the chemical explosives at depths of 390 to 600 feet in Lake Superior at points 65 miles north of Ironwood, Mich.

The plan calls for detonations on five successive days during a period starting on Oct. 1 and ending on Oct. 8, with daily charges ranging from 2,000 to 20,000 pounds.

"The purpose," said Pakiser, "is to investigate the structure of the earth underlying the Great Plains, and to study the effects of this structure on the seismic waves generated by the explosions."

"The Lake Superior area has been selected for the test because of the unusual efficiency of transference of shock waves into the earth's crust."

Three Listening Stations
Basically, he explained that the geologists hope to obtain a "profile" of a portion of the earth's crust from Minnesota to Arizona from the studies of the shock waves which should be detected on seismographs as far away as California.

The survey said it has been advised by the Bureau was get a high building some-day with a telescopic rifle, and there was nothing anybody could do to defend against such an attempt."

But the report critically recited a chain of what it called official failures, omissions and errors, including:

1. The Secret Service "as a matter of practice did not investigate, or cause to be checked, any building along the motorcade route" to be used by Kennedy, Johnson and Connally.

2. The Federal Bureau of Investigation failed to alert the Secret Service to the presence in Dallas of Oswald, the lonely, brooding onetime defector to Russia and pro-Castro agitator.

Police Criticized

3. The Dallas police failed to heed adequately two telephoned threats against Oswald's life, as well as a personal warning from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover to provide "utmost security" for the prisoner. Ruby, a pistol-carrying nightclub owner, walked unchallenged into a disorderly jail corridor jammed with police and newsmen; he shot Oswald dead and destroyed all hope of a confession.

4. With the help of "a running commentary by the police" which included unchecked and erroneous reports, "a great deal of misinformation was disseminated to a worldwide audience" by the press, radio and television. The commission criticized police and press alike.

"The publicizing of unchecked information provided much of the basis for the myths and rumors that came into being soon after the President's death," said the commission.

"The erroneous disclosures became the basis for distorted reconstructions and interpretations of the assassination."

No Foreign Plot

The report called on representatives of the bar, the news media, and law enforcement groups to work out together ethical standards for collecting and presenting news "so that there will be no interference with pending criminal investigations, court proceedings, or the right of individuals to a fair trial."

Aware that millions in Europe and some in America suspect that a foreign left-wing conspiracy — or a U.S. right-wing plot — killed the young President, the commission devoted an entire 32-page appendix to "speculations and rumors," rebutting them item by item.

It piled up mountainous evidence, each scrap of it footnoted to the documentation in more than 20 volumes of testimony still to be published, to support its findings that:

—The lonely, tormented, 24-year-old Marxist — a "better than average" marksman as a Marine and "an excellent shot" as civilians go — killed Kennedy from an ideally situated sniper's nest in the building where he worked.

Third Bullet Wild

—The first, nonfatal bullet which hit Kennedy pierced his throat and "probably" was the one that wounded Gov. Connally. Another crashed through Kennedy's head as he slumped. It virtually exploded his skull.

—A third bullet — which could have been the first, middle or last of three shots fired — went wild. It missed even the slow-moving car. It may have been the last, fired at the greatest distance.

—The time lapse from first to last shots was from 4.8 to more than 7 seconds. Marine marksmanship experts said Oswald was capable of firing three shots with two hits in that time. It was a "very easy target," moving in direct line of fire.

—The President was alive, in the medical sense, but in "hopeless" condition on arrival at the hospital five minutes later. In 25 more minutes life was gone.

—Except for a desperate lunge by a Secret Service agent, Jacqueline Kennedy probably would have fallen from the rear deck of the auto and been killed by the following car. She cannot remember climbing onto the back of the car.

Slugs Identified

—One almost complete bullet was found and two good-sized fragments of another. They were fired from Oswald's rifle and no other, according to positive ballistic identification.

—The rifle found in the sniper's nest was the Italian-made carbine with telescopic sight bought by Oswald by mail in March. It was identified by his wife Marina; by the serial number and seller's stock number.

by Oswald's palm print; and by threads from the shirt he wore that day — or a shirt of the same material and color.

—Oswald's handwriting was on the mail order. It also was on the order for the pistol which apparently killed policeman J. D. Tippit during Oswald's flight a half hour later. He used the alias he had used as a pro-Castro demonstrator in New Orleans, "A. J. Hidell," an alteration of "Fidel."

—One eyewitness, Howard L. Brennan, a steamfitter, saw the rifleman "taking positive aim" and firing the last shot from the sixth-floor corner window of the Texas School Book Depository. He picked Oswald from a police lineup as the man most resembling the sniper.

Others Saw Rifle

"He drew the gun back," said Brennan, "and maybe paused for another second as though to assure himself (sic) that he hit his mark, and then he disappeared."

—Six other witnesses saw the protruding rifle, or saw it fired, or saw it being withdrawn slowly. Some saw the moving figure in the area where book cartons, some bearing Oswald's palm and fingerprints, were later found to have been piled to form a seat and marksman's parapet.

—No direct or indirect relationship . . . has been discovered between the ex-Marine and his slayer, Ruby. Nor could the commission find any trace or evidence that Ruby, since convicted for murder, had help from police or anyone else in getting at Oswald. The commission accepts Ruby's story — that he simply entered by a ramp from the street, unnoticed. The credentials of some reporters were not checked either.

—The commission found no evidence that either Oswald or Ruby "was part of any conspiracy, domestic or foreign, to assassinate President Kennedy." Ruby's reaction to the assassination "appears to have been one of genuine shock and grief," the commission said. His activities revealed no sign of conspiratorial conduct.

Motive Hazy

—It could find no evidence to show that Oswald was "employed, persuaded, or encouraged by any foreign government . . . or that he was an agent of any foreign government."

—It cited Secretary of State Dean Rusk's testimony, before the commission, that he knew of no "scrap of evidence indicating that the Soviet Union" wanted to eliminate Kennedy.

Rusk went on: "It would be an act of rashness and madness. It has not been our impression that madness has characterized the actions of the Soviet leadership in recent years."

—It found what it considered solid evidence, confirmed by "confidential sources of extremely high reliability available to the United States in Mexico," that Oswald's mysterious trip to Mexico City was a futile effort to get an "in-transit visa" through Cuba to the Soviet Union, not a trust with Cuban plotters. He came home "disappointed and discouraged" six weeks before the assassination.

Since all its evidence compelled a conclusion that Oswald acted alone, the commission said, "therefore, to determine the motives for the assassination of President Kennedy, one must look to the assassin himself."

Unhappy As Child

The commission looked long and hard at 24-year-old Lee Oswald, through the eyes of scores of witnesses. It found a fatherless, unhappy, withdrawn, truant child, diagnosed by a New York City psychiatrist as having "personality pattern disturbance with schizoid — split personality — features and passive-aggressive tendencies."

Evelyn Siegel, a social worker, found an "emotionally starved, affectionless youngster" who felt that "his mother never gave a damn for him."

He admitted to "fantasies about being powerful and sometimes hurting and killing people but refused to elaborate on them," Mrs. Siegel reported.

Lee was bright but had a curious spelling difficulty that he never cured. He read avidly, in solitude, and from 15 on soaked up Communist writings.

He "lived for the time he would become 17 years old to join the Marines"; in his half-brother's view, he wanted to escape "the yoke of oppression from my mother," Marguerite Oswald, now living in Fort Worth.

Failed As Marine

His career as a Marine was a failure, though he did score two points above the minimum requirement for a sharpshooter's badge.

He left the Marines with $1,500 of saved-up pay and used it to defect to the Soviet Union. He was refused Soviet citizenship but was assigned work as a metalworker in a Minsk factory. His pay was supplemented by money from an agency the Russians called the "Red cross" — not the International Red Cross.

Oswald soon was disenchanted with the Soviet Union too. He married 19-year-old Marina on the rebound from a dashed romance with another girl, and sought permission to take her home. After months-long delays and difficulties he succeeded in June 1962 — with the help of a $435.71 "repatriation loan" from the U.S. embassy in Moscow. By then there was a baby, Joan Lee.

Married Life Stormy

Marital life in the Dallas-Fort Worth area was stormy. Oswald's jobs were few, briefly held and poorly paid. Members of the small Russian community liked and helped Marina, but Oswald alienated them.

He beat Marina regularly. She frequently had a black eye, as she did on the day of the assassination. Oswald objected to her smoking and learning English.

Witnesses said she, in turn, derided his sexual ability before friends, complained about lack of money, and derided his big ideas.

"The commission does not believe that the relations between Oswald and his wife caused him to assassinate the President. It is unlikely that the motivation was that simple," the report said.

"Perhaps the most outstanding conclusion . . . is that Oswald was profoundly alienated from the world in which he lived. His life was characterized by isolation, frustration, and failure."

"It is apparent . . . that Oswald was moved by an overriding hostility to his environment. Long before the assassination he expressed his hatred for American society and acted in protest against it."

Place In History

"He sought for himself a place in history — a role as the 'great man.' He also had demonstrated a capacity to act decisively and without regard to the consequences."

"Out of these and many other factors . . . there emerged a man capable of assassinating President Kennedy."

On the morning of Nov. 22 Oswald left for work before anyone else arose. He carried a long brown paper package which he told a neighbor, contained certain rods. For the first time, he left his wedding ring in a cup on his dresser.

A long brown home-made paper bag was found in the sniper's nest later that day. It bore Oswald's fingerprint and palm print. Oswald had taken his rifle from its hiding place in a blanket in the garage, said the commission, disassembled it, and carried it to work. His wife later was astonished to find it gone.

At 12:30 that day, another wife was cradling her husband's shattered head in her arms and crying: "Oh, God, they have shot my husband. I love you Jack."

Johnson Hears Guns

Two cars back, Vice President Johnson was startled by the sharp report.

His testimony: "But I had no time to speculate as to its origin because agent (Rufus) Youngblood turned in a flash, immediately after the first explosion, hitting me on the shoulder, and shouted to all of us in the back seat to get down."

"I was pushed down by agent Youngblood. Almost in the same moment in which he hit or pushed me, he vaulted over the back seat and sat on me."

A theory of Marina Oswald that her husband might have been trying to kill Gov. Connally instead of Kennedy was discounted by the commission. In the way that Oswald had arranged his hideaway, he would have had to shoot through Kennedy to hit Connally.

The commission built rebuttal on rebuttal to scores of rumors and theories. It found total rejection of the claim — offered by his mother in lecture appearances, interviews and home-made press releases — that Oswald might have been a secret agent of the Central Intelligence Agency, slain as a scapegoat.

Transfer Unwise

There was no evidence that Oswald was an "agent, employee or informant" of any government agency, the commission said; or that any federal, state or local official was involved in any "conspiracy, subversion or disloyalty to the U.S. government"; or that Jack Ruby had help from any Dallas policeman.

It described the police decision to transfer Oswald to the county jail in full public view and before television cameras as "unsound," and the arrangements "inadequate."

"Of critical importance," it

Worked 10 Months

The commission questioned 552 witnesses, marshaled the investigative resources of 24 federal agencies and four committees of Congress, used the reports from 25,000 FBI interviews and 1,500 Secret Service interviews.

Instructed by President Johnson last Nov. 29 to "satisfy itself that the truth is known as far as it can be discovered," the commission and its staff labored 10 months to produce its "summary report."

The bipartisan commission was unanimous in both its findings and recommendations. Its members, together representing many decades of legal, judicial, investigative lawmaking experience, were, besides Warren:

Allen W. Dulles, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency; John J. McCloy, lawyer, banker and former high commissioner of Germany; Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Richard B. Russell, D-La., and Gerald Ford, R-Mich.

Expect Higher Potato Prices

Farmers in Michigan are expecting a good crop and, with the National crop down somewhat this should make for higher prices and better income for U.P. and Michigan potato farmers, according to a Michigan State University Extension economist.

The September U.S. crop report for fall potato production is forecast at 181 million hundredweight, eight per cent less than last year and four per cent below average. This should encourage a somewhat better price with population steadily increasing, reports Rick T. Hartwig with the M.S.U. Extension Center in Marquette.

The fall Michigan potato crop is placed at 7.8 million cwt. This is 16 per cent above last year's production and about nine per cent above average. Minnesota farmers, on the other hand find that their fall potato production is 21 per cent less than last year and 11 per cent below average due to a lighter set in the dry weather and early scattered frost in mid-August.

A recent report shows that the per capita supply of late summer and fall potatoes (115 lbs. potatoes per capita) is the smallest since 1957.

In view of this projected supply information, it should be the aim of every U.P. potato grower to protect his crop from disease and insects and do the best possible job of harvesting so that he will have a large high quality crop to store at price prospects which appear to be best in some years, said MSU spokesmen.

North Western, Milwaukee Road Move To Merge

Agreement by the management of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad and the Chicago & North Western Railway on principal terms for a proposed merger of the two companies is announced by William J. Quinn, president of the Milwaukee Road, and Ben W. Heineman, chairman of the North Western.

The two railroad executives said in a joint statement that the agreement was "the first step in a unification that would produce a stronger, more efficient railroad with benefits to all interests—investors, employees, shippers and the public as a whole. In fact," they said, "we are convinced that there are no other two railroads in the nation that, in combination, could bring greater benefits to all interested groups."

Quinn and Heineman explained that the agreement announced today is subject to approval by the boards of directors of the respective companies at special meetings to be called promptly. A definitive merger agreement embodying the terms of the present agreement will also be subject to approval by the respective boards, the shareholders and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"We have no doubt but that the principal terms on which we have reached agreement," they said, "will result in a plan that will be fair and equitable to all classes of security holders of both companies and that each class will be materially better off as a result of the unification. For that reason, we believe our security holders will overwhelmingly approve the merger proposal, as will the Interstate Commerce Commission. The railroads in unification will also result in a strong carrier that will be better able to meet shipper and public requirements for modern equipment and services."

Stock Exchange

The agreement announced today calls for the following treatment of securities:

Each share of Milwaukee common stock will be exchanged for 0.70 of a share of North Western common stock. Thus, common stock equity in the merged company would be held 64% by Milwaukee Road shareholders and 36% by North Western shareholders.

Each share of Milwaukee and North Western preferred stock will be exchanged for one share of a new North Western preferred stock with a 6% dividend rate.

The proposed name of the new company will be Chicago, Milwaukee & North Western Railway Co.

"The transportation business," Quinn and Heineman said, "is not only highly competitive but will become more so in the future. The improved financial and operating conditions anticipated for the unified company will enable it to generate the funds to obtain the necessary equipment, pursue major modernization projects, and bring about service improvements at a faster rate and to a greater degree than could be achieved by either of the two railroads separately."

Coast To Coast

Annual benefits resulting from merger of the two railroads are estimated to be substantially in excess of $30 million.

Although the Milwaukee Road extends to the North Pacific Coast, most of its mileage is concentrated in the same general area of the Middle West served by the North Western. Both the 10,540-mile Milwaukee Road and 10,435-mile North Western headquarters in Chicago.

The two lines extend "coast to coast," with the Milwaukee reaching the West Coast and the North Western serving every major western terminal port of the St. Lawrence Seaway on Lake Michigan and the southern shores of Lake Superior.

The two roads have substantial mileage of overlapping and parallel lines, duplicating yards and other facilities in the midwest region. Elimination of such overlapping facilities will permit greater efficiency of operation and public convenience.

List New Books On Civil Rights

The crisis in race relations in recent months has brought stepped up requests to Escanaba Carnegie Public Library for books on civil rights and the Negro problem, according to Library Director Harry Courtwright.

"Passage of the civil rights bill and renewed racial conflict has created increased demand for background reading," Courtwright said.

A widely requested book at the moment is "Why We Can't Wait," by Martin Luther King, who is a symbol around the world for moderation in the Negro's struggle for equality. He spells out the reason for Negro demonstrations, the why of Freedom Now, and the frustrations of the Negro people that breeds impatience.

Numerous other recent books discuss the reasons for increased racial conflict and tension in recent years. Some of the titles include "Black Man's America," by Simeon Booker, "The New Equality," by Nat Hentoff, "Fire-bell in the Night," by Oscar Handlin, "White and Black," by Samuel Lubell, "The Negro Revolt," by Louis Lomax, "The Negro Revolution in America," by William Brink and Louis Harris, and "Freedom Ride," by James Peck.

C. Eric Lincoln's "The Black Muslims in America" provides background on the most militant of all Negro groups.

Efforts by groups in the South and elsewhere to resist integration are described in such books as "The Segregationists," by James Cook and "The South Strikes Back," by Hodding Carter.

Frequently requested over the past two years has been John Griffin's "Black Like Me," in which the novelist-author tells how he chemically darkened his skin and suffered the humiliations, hardships, and actual perils of being a Negro in the South.

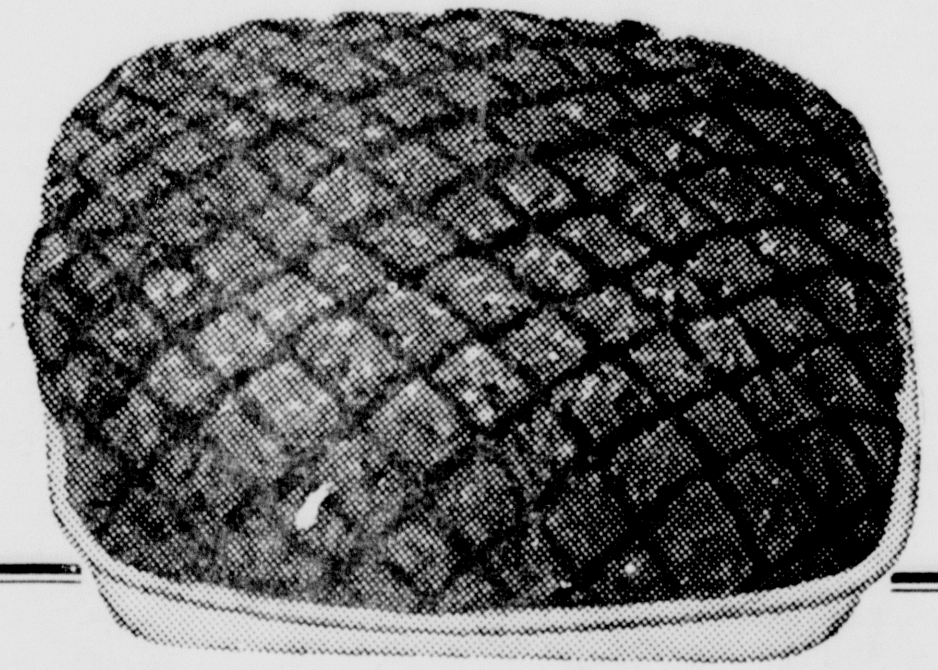

The long history of the civil rights struggle is told in "Race relations: problems and theory" by Jitsuiichi Masuoka and "A Century of Civil Rights," by Milton Konvitz.

Another recent book, Harry Golden's "Mr. Kennedy and the Negroes" states that the late President used the power and prestige of his office in the area of civil rights in such a way that he deserves to be called "The Civil Rights President."

Persons are invited to pick up books at the library or they can be reserved by calling the library at ST 6-4463, Courtwright said.

Nuclear War Issue

The top issue of the presidential campaign, as Time magazine sees things, is the fear of nuclear war. And it says that neither candidate is leveling with the American public on the issue.

GOP Nominee Barry Goldwater opened the subject—and probably wishes now that he hadn't—in a talk in the fall of 1963 with a suggestion that NATO field commanders be given more discretion about when to use tactical nuclear weapons in event of attack.

Goldwater later said he was misquoted and that he meant only the supreme commander of NATO and since then he has "clarified" it into deeper confusion, but currently he's given only NATO's supreme Allied commander in Europe (U.S. General Lyman Lemnitzer) any sort of option to use nuclear weapons without specific, direct authorization from the President of the United States.

Democrats, Republicans, Vegetarians and all other parties and seemingly most citizens understand that this is not a political peccadillo but a serious issue. When the United States uses the first, smallest nuclear weapon it probably crosses the line between local war with conventional weapons and unlimited, world war with nuclear weapons. We faced this decision in Korea and elected not to use the bomb; we have decided against it in Viet Nam.

The present American public belief seems to be that the law vests control of our nuclear weapons in the President, as commander in chief of the armed forces. President Johnson has tended to foster this belief and to use it to his political advantage. In his Labor Day speech in Detroit he said the first nuclear exchange between the United States and Russia would leave 100 million Americans and more than 100 million Russians dead, which is giving us a little the best of it, but in a pyrrhic holocaust. In later speeches the President increased his casualty figures and while he didn't say so he implied that that would never happen because he delegated his authority to any military commander, in NATO or anywhere.

Time, suggesting that the President is delinquent in not launching the world's greatest air raid shelter program if he really believes there'll be 100 million American deaths in the first exchange, notes that there is no provision in the law that permits only the President's finger on the nuclear trigger.

The Atomic Energy Act provides only that the President may direct the Atomic Energy Commission to "deliver such quantities of special nuclear material or atomic weapons to the Department of Defense for such use as he deems necessary in the interest of national defense." The President has final responsibility, of course, for all matters pertaining to the national defense as commander in chief of the armed forces but he can and must in many ways delegate his authority. There's nothing in the law to prevent him from delegating authority to a NATO commander to use nuclear weapons in certain situations.

President Johnson indicates he can't and won't delegate such authority and Barry Goldwater says that he should. Actually the NATO commander has such authority now under President Johnson and he had it earlier under Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy. Authority for NATO's chief to use nuclear weapons in crises like the incapacity of the President or breakdown of communications was granted in 1957 with notice to the Congressional Joint Committee on Atomic Energy.

These secret plans are now in operation and apply to the commander of the North American Air Defense as well as NATO.

"No one wants a nuclear war," suggests Time. "This is as true of Goldwater as of Johnson. Goldwater believes that the best deterrent to such a war is a clear and well-understood declaration that the U.S. will, if necessary, defend its vital international interests with nuclear weaponry. In urging this point he has indulged in some imprecise language . . . has given the impression that he does not really know what he is talking about."

"Johnson has taken advantage of almost everything Goldwater has said. Campaigning for re-election as the great peace keeper, he keeps invoking national security as a brake on what he can say. But he has not said all he could and he has indulged in some imprecision himself. He gets across the idea, for instance, that Goldwater is irresponsible and reckless because he has suggested that NATO's commander ought to be given some sort of contingency authority for using tactical nuclear weapons—at a time when General Lemnitzer, under a delegation of power from Johnson, has just such authority."

"It would be ostrichlike for the U.S. electorate to base its November judgment on the notion that either presidential candidate has discussed the nuclear control issue accurately or fully."

Honored at the University of Michigan by the Regents were four recent graduates from high schools in this area: Margaret Quick, Manistique; Anna L. Krantz, 1002 S. 12th St., William Clifford Gaffney, 605 S. 16th St., Escanaba; and Raymond G. McFadden, Cornell.

Tee Shirts and Summer dresses made a brief comeback yesterday when the thermometer hit an even 80 degrees. Only once in Escanaba has it been this warm in the city on this late date in the season. That was in 1892.

Orlando Ott, 304 Lake St., is Manistique's new assessor. W. G. Stephens, who has held this job for some time, recently resigned and Ott was appointed to succeed him.

Who Said Latins Are Lousy Lovers?

Washington Notebook

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — When Oklahoma GOP Senate nominee Bud Wilkinson arrived in town to address Washington's National Press Club before taking in the Oklahoma-Maryland football game, observers recalled some of the great Oklahoma teams turned out by the former football coach.

At the peak of Wilkinson's coaching career—during his record 48-game winning streak—the Oklahoma University president came to Washington to testify in favor of a bill granting federal funds for expanding the Norman, Okla., campus.

Pleaded the president to a Senate committee.

"We want a university that the football team can be proud of."

In his speech, Wilkinson told the reporters he had always respected the journalism profession for its "impartial objectivity."

"During the years of Oklahoma's long winning streak," he continued, "there was one very persistent reporter who collared me after every victory. He'd always ask the same question: 'When are you going to quit coaching?'"

"Well, eventually we lost a game. And the next year our team dropped its first five games. After the fifth defeat, this same reporter collared me again. He looked me right in the eye and asked: 'When are you going to return to coaching?'"

On the President's visit to Sacramento, newsmen who accompanied him to a rocket engine "static test firing" at the Aerojet General plant were a bit rattled when told that just five bolts held the roaring engine stationary.

Properly impressed when it blazed for the desired 165 seconds, they clambered aboard the press bus for the trip to a nearby airport. A waggish reporter shouted:

"Only thing wrong with those missiles is they don't vote. Let's get back on that highway!"

Shortly before the 1962 elections, Pierre Salinger, then presidential press secretary, gave a large party at his Lake Barcroft, Va., home for Gus Johnson, Democratic candidate for Congress in Virginia's 10th District.

Johnson's opponent, Republican Rep. Joel Broyhill, promptly charged he was the object of a "White House purge" attempt.

California voters will now be able to catch a repeat performance. Broyhill, billing himself as "Sen. Salinger's congressman," put the show back on the road with the announcement that he will go to California to campaign for GOP Senate nominee George Murphy, Salinger's November opponent.

Defense Secretary Robert McNamara, in the process of being asked some pointedly embarrassing questions at a press conference, was handed a note by Assistant Secretary Arthur Sylvester. (It was probably a report of the latest incident in the Gulf of Tonkin.)

Shutting off the conference, McNamara told newsmen as he disappeared through the door: "I'm sorry to have to draw to a close, although I must say, to my point of view, it comes at a convenient time."

Striking Modern Passion Play Is Staged In Manila

By HENRY HARTZENBUSCH
MANILA (AP) — A startling passion play, reflecting efforts of the Roman Catholic Church to adapt itself to the modern era, was presented here recently.

"For the first time on a Philippine stage, and perhaps for the first time in the world, the character who kisses Christ in the garden, betraying him to his enemies, is a woman," says the Rev. James Reuter, an American Jesuit priest who has directed several religious television and radio plays in Manila. "God sweats blood in traditional fashion," says Father Reuter, "but in a night club, in the shadow of a chorus line."

The play was presented by St. Scholastica's College, one of the most conservative convent schools in the Philippines, the only predominantly Roman Catholic country in Asia.

Father Reuter, who also has a regular daily radio program, says: "There is a new approach to theology and to canon law—an effort to apply the ancient law of God as gently as possible to the needs of men. Everywhere the people answer the prayers of the priest, singing the ancient psalms in English, in the Tagalog dialect, in Chinese—to melodies composed in the 20th century."

Father Reuter says the change was sparked by the Vatican Ecumenical Council. In an article describing the play, Father Reuter said:

"In the courtyard of the Roman governor, a girl snatches the lash from the soldier, and scourges the bleeding back of Christ. A girl presses the crown of thorns into his brow. And on Calvary, instead of the soldiers rolling dice for the seamless robe, Christ looks down on a little group of women busily playing mah-jong."

"Satan stalks through this passion play, as Satan stalks through the world, but for the first time on a Philippine stage, Satan is a lovely young lady in an evening gown. As Satan says so simply in the play 'Women had much to do with the passion.'"

Father Reuter explains the devil could just as well be a woman as a man.

"Satan has no sex," he says. "Lucifer is neither man nor woman. Lucifer is an angel, all spirit. In the play, when the dying sinner screams 'Lucifer!' the lovely young lady in the red evening gown smiles and says: Please. Lucifer is always associated with hooves and horns. Couldn't you call me something nicer? Something a little more modern? Let's say—Luz?"

WIFE HEADED WARNING

LOUISVILLE (AP)—Louisville policeman Rodney Orkies warned his wife to beware of purse snatchers in an area where she waited nightly for a bus to take her home from work.

The warning was worth $15. Before going to work a couple of days later, she gave her husband most of her money. Waiting for the bus that night, she had her purse stolen. The loss: only a few cents in change.

The Doctor Says:

Nothing Disturbs Baby

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

The American Indian mother carried her baby on her back wherever she went until he was old enough to walk. Chinese mothers traditionally keep their babies near them for the first five years. Mexican mothers use a long scarf or reboso as a sling in which to carry their babies.

Such close association of the mother with the baby during the early years has decided advantages as was demonstrated at a recent three-day meeting in Chicago of La Leche League International.

The very worthy purpose of this league is to help mothers in their efforts to nurse their babies but the most spectacular feature of the convention was that more than 100 of the 400 young mothers who attended carried their infants (mostly under 6 months of age) not only to Chicago but also to all of the conferences, discussions and lectures of the convention.

Babies were seen—but not heard—in the arms of panel moderators, information booth attendants and mothers in the press room and behind the registration desk. What could have been a pandemonium of squealing infants turned out to be the quietest three days in the history of the headquarters hotel.

The age-old "secret" of this success lies in the fact that nothing disturbs the baby who knows that his mother is near. The only exception to this is that a baby is quick to sense kind.

Negro History Sites Manual Is Offered Public

A revised, expanded and retitled version of a popular guide to places significant to Negro history in America is now available from American Oil Co. The book, "American Traveler's Guide to Negro History," described four sites in Michigan.

The 40-page publication also contains a number of new illustrations not available when the first edition was published in 1963, under the title "American Traveler's Guide to Negro Monuments," as a contribution to the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation.

It was written by Robert H. Elliott, former member of the Chicago Defender staff and now a member of American Oil's creative services staff.

Midwest sites described in the publication include: Illinois — The DuSable Market, Provident Hospital and Training School, the Underground Railroad market at Cassopolis; the Douglas-Brown marker in Detroit; the Crosswhite Boulder at Marshall.

Ann Landers

Woman Banishes Spells For $25

Dear Ann Landers: I would feel foolish asking a friend about this. It's much easier to write it in a letter. Since you know about unusual things I hope you will be able to help me.

A woman who works in the grocery store told me very confidentially that her mother-in-law can put spells on people and she can also remove them. She said certain folks who seem to have a lot of bad luck had a spell put on them and they will never be free of the spell until someone who has magical powers removes it.

My husband and I have had a lot of bad luck lately. He almost died from pneumonia last spring, our store burned down, his brother was arrested for passing bad checks and our daughter had to get married. The woman told me today she will relieve us of the spell for $25. Is it worth the gamble?—HOPEFUL

Dear Hopeful: The only thing she can relieve you of is $25.

Use your head. If this person had magical powers she would not be operating from a grocery store at $25 a crack. She'd be out in Las Vegas making a million—taking spells off the losers.

Dear Ann Landers: Two years ago I married a wonderful man. There was never a happier family than ours. My husband and son (then 13) got along beautifully—until we bought this home and Danny became acquainted with a neighbor girl. She is 13. Danny lost interest in everything and everyone but this girl. He refuses to take a weekend trip or go on a vacation because he doesn't want to leave her. They are together constantly—or on the phone.

My husband put his foot down and told Danny he'd have to build friendships with both boys and girls, join clubs, participate in sports and work harder in school. I know my husband is right but Danny now says he hates us both for what we are doing to him.

Last week Danny climbed out of his bedroom window and walked for hours while we searched frantically. We are ready to sell this house and move. We need some advice.—S.O.S.

Dear S.O.S.: Moving is not the answer. You will take your problem right along with you. A 15-year-old boy who wraps his life around a 13-year-old girl is desperately in need of emotional support. Ordering Danny to stay away from the girl makes no sense to him. He feels you are being unreasonable and spiteful.

Intense romantic relationships at 13 and 15 indicate TWO troubled kids. They both need help. See your doctor and get professional guidance. And talk to the girl's parents. Suggest (subtly, of course) that they consider some help for the girl.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm just about at the end of my rope with this lunkhead I'm married to. Right now I'm so mad at him I could spit tacks.

What would you do if on the day before your birthday your husband handed you a quarter and said, "Here, go buy yourself a nice birthday card.—COUNTING TO 100

Counting: I would take the quarter, smile tenderly, thank him for his thoughtfulness and tell him he was sweet to remember. I would then buy a card for 10 cents and bring the sport 15 cents in change.

All-Kindergarten School
RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) This Portage County seat of 11,000 took out some cheap and effective insurance against overcrowded schools three years ago. Instead of tearing down old Walnut School, it kept the vacant six-room building as a spare.

Next fall the old building will make education history in Ohio by becoming an all-kindergarten schoolhouse. Nearly 300 youngsters will be enrolled for half-day classes, and a kindergarten over-crowding at five other elementary schools will be solved until new buildings are available in the following year.

Pitiful, Polluted Marsh Recalls 1902 Duck Heaven

By LEE SMITS

Hunting and fishing are classified as sports. They can become addictions, and it is interesting to note that confirmed addicts are likely to devote themselves exclusively to some particular variety of hunting or fishing.

Talk to a dry-fly man about bass and note the glassy look in his eyes. Try to talk bird dogs to a retriever man and he is likely to shift the conversation to abstract art.

Teddy Roosevelt, the outstanding sportsman among the American presidents, esteemed the rifle, big game hunting, and had no interest in the scatter gun and small game. Grover Cleveland shot ducks and fished for bass. Lyndon Johnson is a bird-dog — and beagle — man.

Long, long ago, about the time I advanced from kilts to knee pants, I hung around a cabinet maker's shop on the St. Joseph River and watched him make decoys. I swam in the mill race with Zippo, my friend's American water spaniel. I hefted his ten gauge double gun, with damascus barrels, and was a rapt spectator as he loaded brass shells with four drams of black powder and an ounce and a half of No. 4 shot.

Having sought the companionship of wildfowlers all these years, it seems to me that the allure of duck shooting is the strongest of all.

We get a relative break in the 1964 season and bag limits, so maybe it is excusable to go meandering back to the time when the duck supply seemed inexhaustible and would have continued to be inexhaustible had the dredge, ditcher and bulldozer stayed away from the duck breeding grounds.

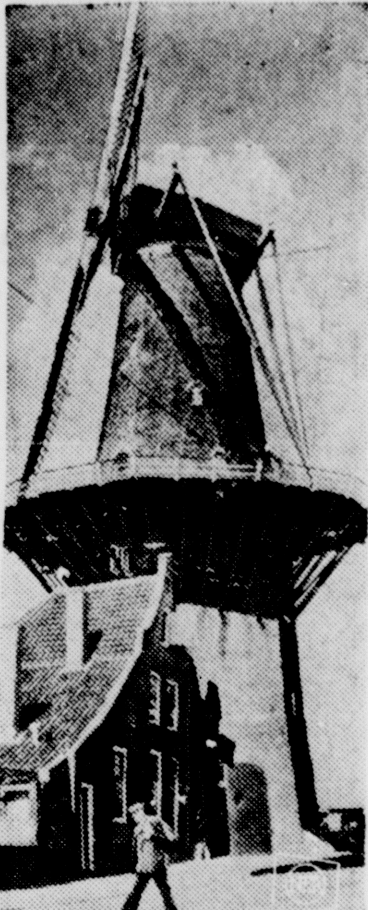

Michigan sportsmen are very grateful for a 40-day season and it is hard for an old-timer to believe his memory of a time when ducks were legally hunted, spring and fall, eight full months a year. The slaughter at times was appalling, but they always came back — in spite of an occasional bad nesting season. They came back in clouds, in flocks, by the hundreds of thousands. There was good duck hunting in every Michigan county; and fabulous hunting in some.

In the world of wild-fowl-ing, and in the eastern game markets, the Lake Erie marshes, Detroit River, the St. Clair Flats were famous. Saginaw

Ratio of Pupils per Teacher	28.4
An overcrowded situation in the elementary grades made some reshuffling necessary. From the fourth, fifth and sixth grades were departmentalized. From all reports and observations this contributed much of an affirmative nature to the students' total program. Teachers were used in specific areas of training and experience. With such evident success the plan, of course, merits continuation. Abnormally high enrollment forced sectioning of the first grade. In many other elementary grades the ratio of pupil to teacher remained unjustifiably high. Hoping to alleviate this problem to correct other operational weaknesses, to offer a better total program, and to be able to compete in the teacher market, the board of education requested additional operational millage from the voters but were defeated. The contemplated program of curricular expansion and needed equipment purchase was therefore curtailed.

gest wild fowl markets in the country. Fresh water canvas-back, fattened on wild celery, were served in New York restaurants at $8 a pair for canvasbacks, $6 for redheads. Not even the indefensible shooting of mated ducks in the spring and wholesale marketing of ducks could diminish the output of the prairie ducks factories.

An illustration of what has happened to our continental wealth of wild fowl in the 20th Century can be seen in the pitiful, polluted remnant of the Monroe marshes.

Radio Replaces Drums In Africa

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

Tunis (AP) — A new fetish is conquering Africa, gradually replacing the sound of drums, the voice of village elders and fires lit on the crests of hills.

The transistor radio is sweeping the continent, penetrating into walled Arab villages of the north and the swamps of the rain forest in Africa's heart.

The "box that talks" knows no frontiers. It is carried by camel drivers in the sun-scorched Tunisian south, by oarsmen of the svelte pirogue boats on the Niger River, by houseboys of European settlers in the Ivory Coast.

Since 1948, the number of radio transmitters in Africa has grown from 120 to 370, and the number of individual sets from 930,000 to 5.5 million.

According to United Nations statistics, the circulation of daily newspapers has increased 50 per cent to a total of three million.

Two per cent of Africa's 269 million people own radio sets — the price often represents 5 per cent of their annual income. Perhaps 10 times as many people profit from the sets.

The radio has become an influential propaganda tool in the hands of Africa's powerful-minded statesmen and foreign countries struggling for influence in the awakening continent.

Voices speaking in all major languages and most widespread tribal dialects pour from the ether day and night. Conflicting ideas and information spin the heads of the people in the savannas of Cameroon, in the sands of Mauritania.

The Voice of America, using some of the world's most powerful transmitters, beams seven languages, including Amharic and Swahili.

The Soviet Union has 17 hours of Africa-oriented broadcasts daily, while other East-bloc countries broadcast one to three hours.

Communist China, struggling for influence in Africa, broadcasts 10 hours a day in English.

France maintains a powerful transmitter in Brazzaville, on the banks of the Congo River, where a team of 60 French broadcasters and technicians spread France's propaganda in the former French colonies, the former Belgian Congo next door and Portuguese Angola.

WATCH ANTARCTICA STRETCH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University experts have a new project—watching Antarctica stretch.

The "stretch" of the surface ice sheet is being measured by the university's Institute of Polar Studies and the U.S. Geological Survey's Topographic Division.

The sheet is estimated to grow a half inch per mile each year.

Dr. Richard L. Cameron, the project's supervisor, says the measurements would give a better understanding of flow mechanisms and the rate of flow on the ice sheet.

Anaconda Slowed Up By Disputes, Cuts Deliveries

NEW YORK (AP)—Anaconda Co., the nation's third largest producer of copper, says it is being forced to cut deliveries of copper to customers by 25 per cent, effective next month.

Production at Anaconda's big Chiquicamata refinery in Chile has been slowed by a labor dispute over production efficiency bonuses.

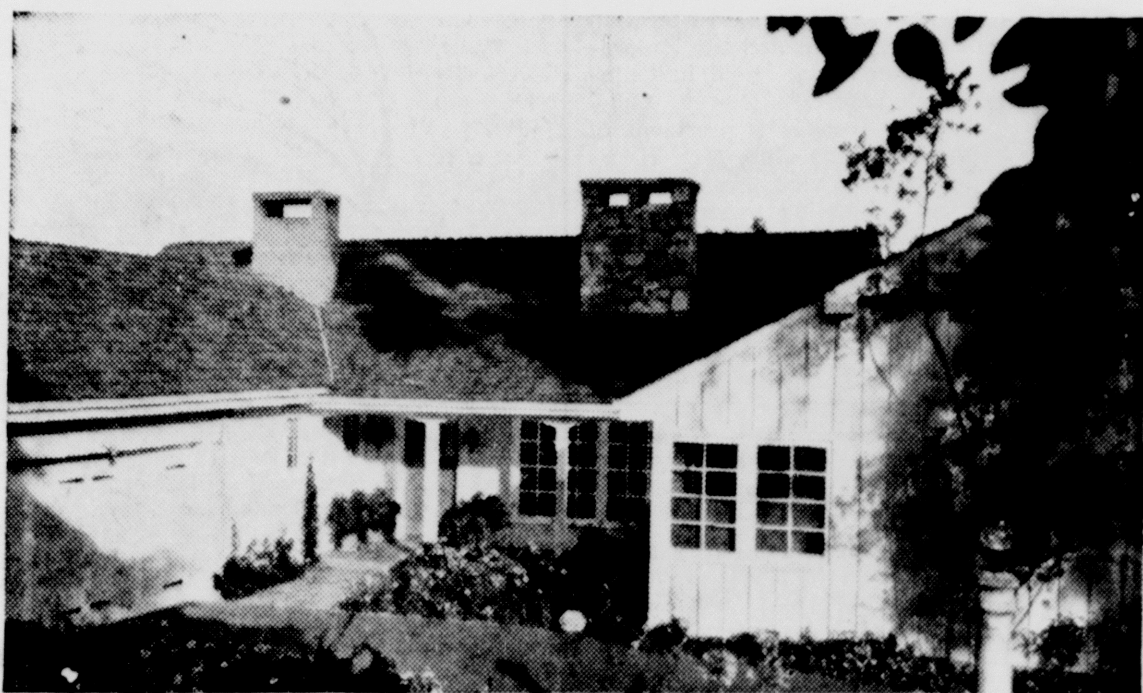

Copper has been in heavy demand for months. A shortage of the metal was intensified by a 70-day strike this summer at Kennecott Copper Corporation's western U.S. mines, as well as political troubles in the Congo and labor problems in Rhodesia.

Major U.S. producers last week boosted the domestic price of copper two cents to 34 cents a pound.

Women's Activities

Publicity chairmanship of an organization can be a rewarding job. The homemaker who knows her group, has biographical data and file photos of key people and respects deadlines will have a fat scrapbook to show for her efforts.

Publicity Chairman

By KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

No sooner are the children back in school and you've drawn one deep breath than the telephone rings and you're asked to assist with a club or social event.

After a good long time of assisting, I have learned to consider a request carefully.

Don't say "no" because you're weary at the moment. If it's a club or a service you enjoy and believe in, your assistance in an office will, on balance, be a happy thing.

For two years I helped the fellow churchwomen with publicity. Although it meant late hours, and sometimes taking the baby to meetings, the experience was most rewarding.

If you feel "ho hum" about the club, event or service, don't say "yes" just to oblige. You may find it difficult to sustain enthusiasm and consequently won't do a good job.

Many homemakers I know shrink from publicity chairmanships because the success or failure of their efforts is apparent to all their buddies who read the paper. But a publicity job well planned can be a real service to your organization and to the local paper.

Guiding Manuals

There are manuals to guide publicity chairmen. I have been asked for advice many times. As an editor, I know that the publicity chairman who is respected is one who knows her mission thoroughly, the names of those involved and presents a typewritten story or outline (double or triple-spaced) comfortably in advance of paper deadlines.

Establishing the timing on a story is as simple as calling the editor. Be brief on the telephone. Write a full story; the editor can always chop.

If you will be publicity chairman for the year, read the club scrapbook if there is one, read all the history of the club for ideas and to know your subject. Have files on your club officers and important chairmen. These files should include a biographical sketch and a recent glossy print.

Head Shots

Determine from the editor the size of head shots to be submitted. If the officers have portrait photos, the photographer probably still has the negative and can print up a glossy for publicity use. If key people don't have a recent picture of themselves urge them to get one.

Women's editors on most newspapers are highly conscious of the value of good pictures. It is helpful to determine in advance what their policies are. In this day of overlapping coverage in smaller towns by city and suburban newspapers, city papers usually have stricter rules than smaller papers. But the smaller suburban paper usually enjoys good readership in its community.

Learn all the media open to you. Local radio stations may give time or at least a meeting announcement. Special local television shows often include spots for upcoming local events.

A one-egg cake, or a cake made from a white or yellow mix, may be served fresh from the oven with a pudding sauce of lemon or orange flavor.

Beckstrom-Tollstam Wedding Saturday

The Rev. Erland Carlson, pastor, solemnized the double ring ceremony at Christ the King Lutheran Church Saturday, Sept. 26, for Sharon Ann Beckstrom and Donald Frank Tollstam of Chicago.

The 3 p.m. service uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Beckstrom, 1211 N. 22nd St., Escanaba, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tollstam, 3425 Ridgeway, Chicago, was followed by a 4 p.m. reception at Marco's Starlite Room.

Mums and pompons in fall shades were arranged in the altar vases for the wedding and like flowers formed the centerpiece for the reception.

Soloist was Ralph Petersen of Chicago.

A classmate of the bride in nurses training, Shirley Moore, of Chicago, was honor maid. Bridesmaids were two other classmates, Beverley Stewart, also of Chicago, and Mrs. Sandy Weigand of Manitowoc, and Mrs. Bette Richards and Laura Schultz, Escanaba.

Miss Moore was attired in a gold floor length dress with bell shaped skirt, three-quarter length sleeves and round neckline with back streamers extending to the hemline. She wore a matching gold pillbox hat, and gold shoes. Her flowers were shades of yellow and bronze mums and pompons. The bridesmaids were in identical ensembles of emerald green and they carried similar bouquets.

Bride's Ensemble

The bride's niece, Kathy Young of Chatham, was flower girl and a cousin of the bridegroom, Terry Rolecek of Berwyn, Ill., carried the rings. Kathy's short dress was of gold taffeta with an overlay of white organza. Yellow pompons were in the miniature cascade bouquet she carried.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose to wear her sister's floor length wedding gown of white silk taffeta peau de soie. It was styled with a jewel neckline, edged with re-embroidered Chantilly lace and seed pearls. The sleeves were long, ending in points over the wrist. The lace and pearl trim was repeated on the bodice, extending in a chapel train. A butterfly bow at the skirt which formed a length veil of imported lace was held by a crown of seed pearls with three small roses in front. She wore a single strand of pearls and she carried a cascading arrangement of feathered carnations and ivy foliage with a white orchid corsage in the center.

Best man was Ben Tollstam of Prospect Heights, Ill., the bridegroom's cousin. Serving as groomsmen were Jerome Richa, Donald Jeanis and Jerry Dominick, also a cousin, all of Chicago, and Ray Richards of Escanaba.

The guests were seated by Lloyd Young of Chatham, brother-in-law of the bride, and Charles Rolecek, Chicago, cousin of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Beckstrom attended the wedding and received guests in a two-piece suit of emerald green wool with three-quarter length sleeves. She wore brown accessories and a corsage of bronze feathered mums and pompons. Mrs. Tollstam wore a broadtail jacket with black mink collar over her royal blue dress. Silver leaves trimmed the neckline of the dress. Her accessories were royal blue and her corsage was white feathered carnations.

Honeymoon Tour

During the reception Miss Marva Smith and Mrs. Nancy Richa of Chicago were in charge of gifts. Mrs. Neal Blake, Escanaba, registered the guests, Carolyn Blitcha, Chicago, served punch and Mrs. Robert Tardiff of Gladstone cut the wedding cake.

Mr. Tollstam and his bride will live in Chicago at 3921 West Addison when they return from a two week honeymoon in Canada and New York.

She was graduated from Escanaba Senior High School with the class of 1959 and received her degree from Augustana Nursery in Chicago. She is a member of the staff of Chicago Wesley Memorial Hospital. Mr. Tollstam who is superintendent of a tool, die and metal stamping plant, was graduated from Lane Technical High School and attended Wright Junior College.

Being Fat Has Its Advantages

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — When a 220-pound man laughs, there is twice as much of him having a good time as when a 110-pound man laughs.

That is one of the advantages of being fat.

About one out of five adult Americans is overweight, and the other four seem to spend a major portion of their time trying to make him feel guilty about it.

Fat is denounced as a menace to health and a threat to longevity. It has become something of a fad to jeer at fat folks.

Elsewhere in the world today the ambition of many people is to put on more weight, and fat often is regarded as a symbol of success. In this country, however, the only fat man who consistently gets a good press is Santa Claus.

If the attitude gets much worse, fat people will be hounded from the streets or thrown into jail and put on diets of protein bread and water.

At the risk of sounding unpatriotic, I'd like to point out that being fat has some virtues.

For example, it tends to make you philosophic. Skinny people always are flying into rages over trifles. Fat people learn to take things more calmly. They don't lose their temper if they miss a bus. They know there'll be another one sooner or later, so why make a fuss?

Fat makes you more law-abiding. Very few overweight men make successful bank robbers as they have too much difficulty waddling away with the loot.

Fat tends to make a man a better husband. His wife is generally happy in the knowledge she is not married to a woman chaser. Few fat men chase girls because they get winded too easily.

Fat men also have better developed minds. This is because they think things through before wasting energy unnecessarily.

Of course being fat isn't all gravy. It has its minor disadvantages. One of the most vexing problems of the fat man is that he has to bend down to tie his shoelaces in the morning. But once he has that chore out of the way, the rest of his day is clear sailing.

The next time you see a fat man plodding by, restrain that impulse to laugh. Give the matter a second thought. Isn't the real reason you want to poke fun at him the fact that you're secretly jealous of him?

After all, you know—and he knows, too—that any fool can be skinny if he wants to. All he has to do is quit eating.

BABIES GOBBLE CONTENTS OF 2 BILLION JARS

NEW YORK (AP)—America's babies have big appetites.

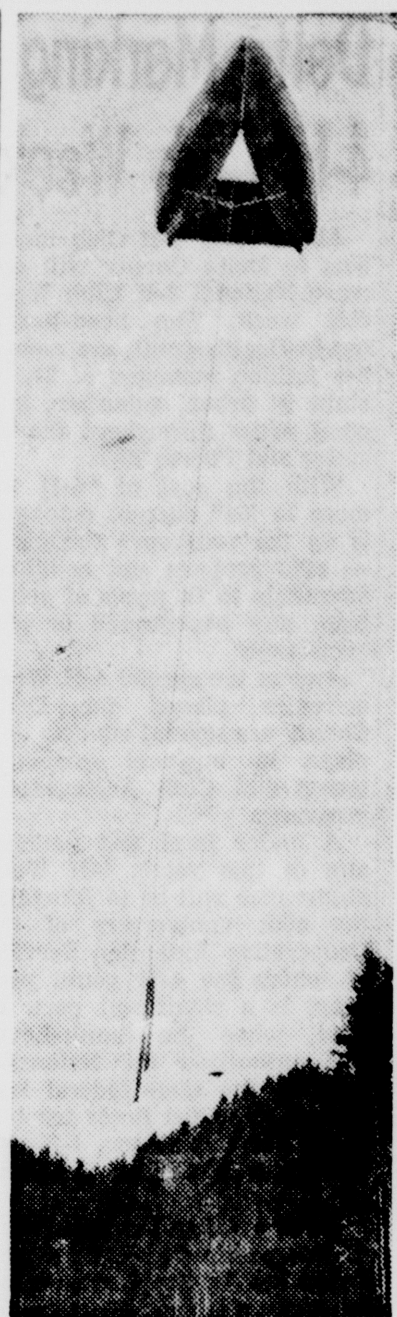

They eat more than 2 billion jars of baby food a year, according to R. L. Cheney, executive director of the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute. That, he explained, is about 100 jars annually for every baby under 5 years old.

Until just a few years ago, Cheney said, many baby foods were packed in tin cans as well as glass, but now all processed baby foods are in glass because "that's the way mothers want it."

No Kidding, Folks, It Is a Sky Hook!

Forget about those old sky hook jokes. Somebody finally invented one. The "somebody" is this instance is the Goodyear Aerospace Corp. And the "hook" is a big, helium-filled, twin cigar-shaped balloon, equipped with a vertical fin for stability. In above photo, the sky hook is launched at a Reedsport, Ore., logging site. At left, it easily supports two logs weighing more than a ton. The rig is maneuvered by cables and winches and is expected to lessen the cost of clearing mountainous areas.

Report Outlook On Small Game

The season for small game will open on Thursday, Oct. 1, and hunters are preparing for an opener that promises plenty of shooting on hare and gray squirrels, with the woodcock population booming.

Outlook for the Escanaba district of the Conservation Department is reported by Department officers, with the warning that for the answers to questions on bag limits, shooting hours, and closing dates, the hunter should consult his 1964 game law digest or a local conservation officer.

The outlook for the district composed of Delta, Marquette, and the west one-half of Alger counties:

Cottontail rabbits and snowshoe hares: Good populations of cottontails continue in southern Delta County. Hunters, however, prefer to hunt the cottontail's larger relative, the snowshoe hare. Field employees report a sizeable increase in hares this year following a good hunting season last winter. These animals could support a much heavier hunting pressure.

No Peak On Grouse

Gray Squirrels: Seem to be on the increase following two relatively mild winters with good nut crops. The acorn and beechnut supply this year, however, is spotty. Few hunters seek this fine sporting animal.

Pheasants: The spring census showed little change in population from last year. Best bets for ringnecks would be the Bark River-Flat Rock locations.

Sharp-tailed Grouse: Good populations of sharp-tails remain in scattered grassland areas, especially where management techniques of clear-cutting, burning, and herbicidal spraying have been used.

Some of the better prospects for opening day would be Dunklee's and Limestone areas, Alger county; Little West, Northwoods Club, and S. Ishpeming, Marquette county; and Birch Farm and Rock vicinities, Delta county.

Ruffed Grouse: The anticipated peak in partridge populations failed to materialize last season, although good hunting was had, especially in parts of Alger and Marquette counties. Despite the best brood count in years during 1963, hunter success did not measure up.

Brood sightings were very high again this last June and July. A cold wet August, with September so far very similar, could be a reason for the lack of bird sightings recently.

Many Raccoon

Woodcock: There is a "booming" population of woodcock. The only problem could be unseasonably cold weather which would trigger the birds early on their flight to warmer climes.

An increasing number of hunters are discovering the great sporting qualities of this little bird. Few targets are more difficult to hit.

Raccoon: This animal continues plentiful with many farmers suffering damage. Local hunters are overlooking an excellent sport.

Geese: This year we have a separate opener for geese on Oct. 1, with the other waterfowl (ducks, coots, rails, etc.) not opening until Oct. 8. Also, the shooting hour begins at sunrise instead of noon. Last year, large flights of geese didn't appear until about Oct. 20.

Total numbers of geese flying through Michigan are expected to be about the same as in 1963. This year, Michigan-produced geese contribute more to the flight; wide-ranging pairs from Seney refuge have raised young in parts of the district.

Bear: The bear season reopens following the two week "quiet" period. Hunters are advised that a bear license is required, available at the district office. During the Sept. 1-15 season, organized hunts were very successful in the eastern counties of the peninsula. Spotted wild fruit and nut crops will result in bears being scattered throughout the range.

White-tailed deer: October sees the opening of the archery deer season. Field reports support the earlier surveys in stating the herd is up, despite a limited harvest of antlerless deer during seven previous deer seasons. Archers should view more deer than last year, especially in southern Delta and Marquette counties.

Africans Will Get Sainthood

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI and more than 100 cardinals and bishops voted approval of sainthood for 22 African tribesmen slain for their Christian beliefs.

Approval came in two consistories in the Vatican Palace, a secret one for the cardinals and a semipublic one for bishops resident within 100 miles of Rome.

Forty cardinals attended the first consistory. Vatican officials said each voted "placet" — pleases — when the Pope asked them whether they agreed to the mass canonization of the Negro martyrs.

Afterward 65 bishops expressed approval in the second consistory.

The canonization consistories represented the final formality before a religious ceremony Oct. 18 makes saints of the 19th century Uganda martyrs. The 2,500 prelates of the Vatican Ecumenical Council have been invited to that ceremony in St. Peter's Basilica.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

New TV Shows Fail To Click

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The Columbia Broadcasting System introduced six new entertainment programs over the week-end — four of them of a content and quality that made this viewer wonder what executives who chose programs really think of the taste and intelligence of the adult audience.

Then, at the 11th hour, the CBS news department galloped in with a truly stunning exhibition of broadcast journalistic enterprise. It was a meticulous and utterly fascinating two-hour reconstruction of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and its aftermath in Dallas, keyed to the release of the Warren Commission's report Sunday evening.

Gomer Looks Good
Friday night CBS presented "The Entertainers," a new variety hour in which talented Carol Burnett and Bob Newhart were permitted to belabor and drag out their slight comedy sketches and the musical abilities of Caterina Valente were explored scarcely at all. The show was generally a bore.

Then came, a happier time with "Gomer Pyle — USMC," starring Jim Nabors, another of those comedy series about the naive hillbilly whose very innocence confuses the sophisticates. Artfully produced with some sure-fire comedy situations, it is a most amusing half hour.

"The Reporter," the last of CBS' new Friday night shows, is an ambitious hour-long dramatic series built around newspapermen of a type found only in old B movies and television series.

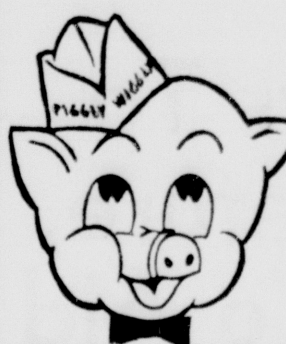

"Mr. Broadway" Fizzles
Saturday night brought "Gilligan's Island," a slapstick comedy which may possibly win some sort of notice as the saddest effort in a season when comedy reigns the channels.

"Mr. Broadway," which followed, promised to be one of the network's major new comedy-adventure offerings. It turned out to be a run-of-the-mine adventure yarn and a big disappointment.

Sole new entry Sunday night was "My Living Doll," which in its opening installment gave promise of becoming a lightly amusing trifle.

The idea is that a scientist has created a robot in the shape of a beautiful woman to be used in space exploration. Rhoda the robot is placed in the custody of a psychiatrist played by Robert Cummings. Julie Newmar plays Rhoda with perfect mechanical coordination.

Recommended tonight: "Olympic Review," NBC, 10-11 EDT — special program setting the stage for coverage of next month's games in Tokyo.

Prosecutors To Ask Legislature, Counties To Aid

Upper Peninsula prosecuting attorneys meeting in Escanaba on Saturday asked the Michigan Legislature to help them with one big problem and the 15 U.P. county boards of supervisors with another.

In a session at the House of Laidington with President Nicholas P. Chapekis, Escanaba, of the U.P. Prosecuting Attorneys Association presiding, the prosecutors asked the Legislature to authorize by law the prosecutors' oral order for warrants for arrest, provided that written authorization for the warrants will be made by the prosecutors before the resulting cases go to trial in court.

The prosecutors have been authorizing warrants orally and then following up with written authority, but a new Supreme Court case interprets constitutional requirement for written authorizations for all warrants by the prosecutors, who are the chief law officers in the counties.

In the other major problem discussed by prosecutors from 10 U.P. counties the boards of supervisors were told of new national judicial pressures on the prosecutors' offices which may double or treble the present budgets for their offices.

County Expense

Hereafter counties must supply to their expense defense counsel to all persons accused of felonies and in even misdemeanor cases where there is a substantial penalty upon conviction. This county expense is for indigent persons, but the rules on determination in indigency are very liberal and the prosecutors' discussions indicated that attorney fees in felony cases with a 5-year penalty on conviction might run $2,000 to $3,000.

When convicted the accused person would be entitled to an automatic appeal to the new state Court of Appeals and then to the State Supreme Court at county expense.

The new American legal format for the protection of the rights of accused persons coming out of recent U.S. Supreme Court cases and resulting action by the Michigan Supreme Court poses not only the pro-

Fall Meeting Held By VFW

The fall convention of the 14th District, Veterans of Foreign Wars Posts and Auxiliaries, was held during the past weekend in Grand Marais. Immediately following the banquet Ernie Bennett was presented with a gift for his outstanding service to veterans during his 15 years as Department of Michigan Service Officer. Mr. Bennett's successor is Waino Leino of Negaunee.

Introduced by 14th District Commander Ralph Bell, Republic, was Department Junior Vice Commander Bonifas Maile, Detroit, who spoke on legislation and membership. He commended members for their increased effort in making the VFW the strongest organization in service to veterans and the community.

Department President Edith Brown, Detroit, spoke on membership, citing the slogan for the year, "Look Forward, Go Forward," and asking members to work for 100 per cent in membership and have Michigan in line for the award at the 1965 national convention. She praised the members for their outstanding hospital work, including contributions to cancer research and local donations.

During the business session of the Auxiliary, conducted by Lucille Cholger, Escanaba, District president, the Department National Home chairman showed movies of the home. The National Home is comprised of 46 units, 32 of which are family sized living units, and provides a typical American home in suburban like surroundings with complete integration into school, civic and religious life of the nearby community of Eaton Rapids. The Home is available to children of deceased veterans.

Post and Auxiliary members of Escanaba attending the convention were Commander and District Adjutant John Anzalone, 14th District President Lucille Cholger, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Briere, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Sturdevant, Mr. and Mrs. Hilding Skoglund, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Doucette and Mrs. Merrill Carlson. Other guests included Ray O'Neil, Detroit, Department Assistant Service director, Mr. Emma Momber, Department Auxiliary senior vice president and Miss Lee Menchinger, Auxiliary Department chaplain.

Sault Ste. Marie was selected as the site of the spring convention.

Chips And Splinters

Contributions To Chips Welcomed

Eleven assemblies of the Knights of Columbus participated in the Fourth Degree exemplification of the order here Sept. 20, climaxed by the Navigators Ball at the Teamsters Hall with the men in full ceremonial dress and the ladies in semi-formal attire.

There were 37 candidates for the degree, 11 of them from Escanaba. Leo Laviolette and John Dishno were on the program committee and Mrs. Peter Cannon, Mrs. Arthur A. Messier, Mrs. John Gnat and Mrs. Clinton Gross were on the committee in charge of women's entertainment.

Master Donald Messier of Manistique led the grand march, followed by the visiting Masters and Faithful Navigators of all the assemblies. About 175 knights in full dress attended a Mass said by Fr. Stephen Mayrand, Friar of the Escanaba Assembly, the exemplification was in Bonifas Auditorium and the banquet was served to 225 in St. Joseph Parish Hall.

Raymond F. Durfee, named by State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie as local government engineer, will disburse about $50 million annually in highway aids to local governments. He worked for the Highway Department in Escanaba office before World War II, and met and married Marge Crowley here. She was from Menominee and was working in an insurance office in Escanaba.

Ira Farrell of Gladstone says he's given up plans to write a sequel to his book, "Haywire," as "Haywire II." He will instead publish a book "From the Pine to Poplar," and he has what he calls "a pretty good start on it. It will be sort of a history," he said "and it will have 60 to 70 pictures of logging in it." The new book will be out in the spring.

Flood Threatens Temples On Nile

CAIRO (AP)—Nile River flood waters were receding today, no longer threatening farmlands, but they still were a danger to the famed temples of Abu Simbel.

Officials warned that the danger from the river's worst flood in 60 years would not end for another two weeks. Indications from upriver were that no further rise in the river was likely.

Water backing up behind the Aswan Dam lapped 25 yards from the Abu Simbel temples. Engineers feared a further rise might endanger the work to raise the temples to a new site.

Delta Marking 4-H Club Week

About 1,000 4-H Club members in Delta County will observe National 4-H Club Week this week. The head-headers-Health youth are among 2 1/4 million members of 94,700 clubs in urban, suburban, and rural areas throughout the 50 states and Puerto Rico.

With the goal of "4-H for more in '64" current emphasis is on the program's flexibility — club projects and activities adaptable to fit needs of youth from any background or circumstance.

Among the special 4-H Week activities planned for Delta County are several window displays in business establishments and Club Achievement programs.

A major local and national aim of this year's 4-H Week observance will be to recognize the 50th anniversary of the Cooperative Extension Service, of which the 4-H youth program is a significant part. In 1914, when the Smith-Lever Act authorized the Extension Service, the same federal legislation provided funds for 4-H work. For this reason, 4-H also celebrates a Golden Anniversary.

Other local and national aims of this year's 4-H Week observance are to: Stress career exploration and the importance of wise vocational choice; encourage capable, youth-minded men and women to become volunteer 4-H leaders; and provide opportunity for clubs to honor their local 4-H friends and express appreciation for their valued assistance.

Mrs. Hansley To Head Volunteers For Elly Group

The appointment of Mrs. Robert Hansley, 1301 8th Ave. S., as Delta County chairman of the Volunteers for Peterson was announced today by Mrs. Roderick H. Spann, state chairman of the organization which is working to elect Elly M. Peterson as the first woman from Michigan to the United States Senate.

Mrs. Hansley, who was active in Elly Peterson's successful bid for the Republican nomination to the U.S. Senate, will be responsible for setting up the volunteer organization throughout Delta County. Volunteers for Peterson, with Michigan's first lady, Mrs. George Romney as honorary chairman, was set up to make it possible for all women and independent voters to participate in campaigning.

Four Men Saved By Ore Carrier

GRAND MARAIS — Four men on their way to Sault Ste. Marie were rescued Saturday afternoon by the ore carrier E. J. Block in Lake Superior after the men bailed for three hours to keep their 31-foot boat afloat.

Tossed by seas that built up in front of winds up to 60 miles an hour, the Markay owned by Wayne Hutchins of Grand Marais sprang a leak and was almost awash when rescue came about 2:30 p.m.

Saved were Hutchins, about 60 years old, Edward Hermanson, 49, of Grand Marais, and Hugh and Harry Rowan, also in their 60's, from Rochester, Mich.

The men had left here at 6:30 a.m. for the trip to Sault Ste. Marie where they were to be licensed for a two-week moose hunting trip along the north shore of Lake Superior. Off Parisienne Island in Whitefish Bay they were picked up by the carrier Block and taken to Sault Ste. Marie. The Markay was taken in tow, broke a line, and was later picked up by the Coast Guard.

"We bailed for about three hours, I guess," said Hermanson. "The motor never stopped but the leak was so bad we just had a hard time keeping afloat. Another 10 or 15 minutes and it would have been too late."

Exhausted by bailing, the men collapsed on the ore carrier and were taken to a hospital at the Sault and then returned to their homes — none the worse for their experience. They abandoned the hunting trip plans, however.

The Markay is a 31-foot diesel powered craft, a converted sailing boat that Hermanson said he believed came originally from Escanaba. Hermanson and his wife operate a store here.

They have relatives in Escanaba. Hermanson is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Francis Thomas, Mrs. William Thomas, and Elmer Neimi, all of Escanaba.

Colts Hand Bears Worst Defeat In Team History

By The Associated Press
"I've always thought we had a good offense," George Halas said last week.
But he didn't figure then on such an unbearable defense.
Actually, the Baltimore Colts had both the offense and defense Sunday — and they put it together for a 52-0 cakewalk over Halas' sluggish Chicago Bears. It was the most one-sided pounding the Bears have ever taken — and they've been around for 45 National Football League seasons.

A year ago, when the Bears' defensive unit carried them to the NFL championship, it took opponents five games to do what Johnny Unitas & Co. accomplished in one swoop. The Bears yielded 10 points a game in 1963 but the Colts had 24 on the scoreboard Sunday before the halftime gun.
And the Chicago attacking force, which ran up 34 points against Minnesota last week, prompting Halas to boast, "I don't care what the other people say, they'll find out we can score points," was virtually non-existent against a Colt defensive charge led by big Gino Marchetti.

Halas conceded that Baltimore had "evened it all up" after losing six straight to the Bears and scoring only a half dozen touchdowns against them. Then he summed up the Bears' performance:

"In one word, both units were stinko. They will never be that bad again all year — either."

Chicago's worst previous defeat was a 49-5 drubbing by Green Bay in 1962. The Bears have dropped two of three 1964 starts.

The Colts, who upset the Packers 21-20 last Sunday, climbed into Western Division title contention with a 2-1 mark. The Los Angeles Rams lead the division with a 2-0-1 record after defeating Minnesota 22-13. Green Bay, 1-1, meets Detroit, 1-0-1, tonight in another key game.

Cleveland downed Philadelphia 28-20 for a share of the Eastern lead with St. Louis, which beat San Francisco 23-13.

The Browns and Cardinals are 2-0-1. Pittsburgh, 2-1, held off Dallas 23-17 in Sunday's other game and the New York Giants edged Washington 13-10 Friday night.

Unitas shredded Chicago's secondary, completing 11 of 13 passes for 247 yards and three touchdowns. Gary Cuozzo, Unitas' understudy, pitched for another touchdown and rookie Joe Don Looney capped the stampede with a 58-yard scoring jaunt.

The Colts' defense, which set up a 17-point second period with two interceptions and a fumble recovery, held the Bears to 60 yards rushing. Chicago didn't penetrate Baltimore territory until the closing minutes of the first half.

Rookie quarterback Bill Munsen passed for one touchdown. Dick Bass ran for another and first-year placekicker Bruce Gossett booted three field goals for the Rams.

The Eagles contained Cleveland's Jimmy Brown in the first half and took a 13-7 lead but Frank Ryan flipped three scoring passes in the second half to rally the Browns.

Four Is Magic Yankee Number In AL Battle

By The Associated Press
Is there an American League pennant race?
That was the big question today after the scrambling Baltimore Orioles and Chicago White Sox gained on first-place New York for the first time since the Yankees sprinted to the top 11 days ago.

The Orioles blanked Cleveland 4-0 and the White Sox defeated Kansas City 5-3 Sunday while Washington stopped New York's 11-game winning streak with a 3-2, 11-inning victory.
The combination left the Orioles and White Sox tied for second, three games behind the Yankees, whose magic number remained at four.

The chances of Baltimore and Chicago undoubtedly are slim. Even if each wins its five remaining games, the Yankees could clinch the pennant by winning just four of the seven they have left.

New York's biggest obstacle — and the one the Orioles and the White Sox must count on — is the four-game series with Detroit starting Tuesday with a two-night doubleheader.

The Tigers, a distant fourth, have won five straight. They also have given the Yankees a fairly difficult time this season, winning six of 14 games.

After the Tigers leave, the Yankees are at home to Cleveland for three games. It was the Indians who the Yankees used to open a four-game bulge, winning four games in two nights.

While New York is finishing that way, Baltimore plays three games with ninth-place Washington and two with Detroit.

That leaves Chicago with the easiest schedule, at least on paper. After a contest with Los Angeles, the White Sox finish with four games against cellar-dwelling Kansas City, a team they've beaten 12 of 14 times.

In other AL games Sunday, Detroit defeated Boston 3-0 and Minnesota stopped Los Angeles 3-1.

If there was any bright spot for the other contenders in the Yankees' loss besides the defeat itself, it was the home run Don Zimmer hit off Pedro Ramos in the eighth inning, tying the game 2-2. The run was only the third off Ramos in nine appearances since he joined the Yankees earlier this month.

The Senators won it in the 11th on a bases-loaded single by pinch hitter Dick Phillips. Mickey Mantle's 34th homer in the seventh inning had given the Yankees a 2-1 lead before Zimmer connected.

Robin Roberts limited Cleveland to three hits, posting his 12th victory against seven defeats. Norm Siebern socked a two-run homer in a three-run Baltimore third inning.

Joel Horlen scattered seven hits and knocked in two runs with a second-inning single as the White Sox outlasted the Athletics.

"We've got to do in five days what Cincinnati took 5 1/2 months to do," said Philadelphia Manager Gene Mauch. "And you can bet we'll do it."

"I know we've got a long week ahead but we've got the chance now," said Cincinnati Manager Dick Sisler. "I don't think we're going to blow it."

Things, however, are such in the tight National League pennant struggle that either could be right or both could be wrong because Sunday's games created a three-way struggle between the Reds, the Phillies and the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Milwaukee Braves opened the door to first place for Cincinnati, slugging slumping Philadelphia 14-8 behind a 22-hit attack, extending the Phillies' losing streak to seven games and topping them out of the top spot for the first time since July 16.

The Reds, who last Sunday were 6 1/2 games behind the Phillies, completed their surge to the top and took a one-game lead by sweeping a doubleheader from New York 4-1 and 3-1 while bringing their winning streak to nine games.

The third-place Cardinals, meanwhile, remained 1 1/2 games behind by whipping Pittsburgh 5-0 for their fifth straight victory and headed home for the start of a three-game series against the Phillies tonight. The Reds are not scheduled.

Mauch, who has seen the Phillies' lead completely wiped out in seven days, was tense, tired and testy in the Philadelphia dressing room. Asked about his feeling, he snapped:

"What do you care how I feel? I'm sick and tired of even hearing my own voice, especially in the last seven days."

"Maybe we just need to get away from home a little," he continued. "Maybe we're better going after something than holding on to it."

Mauch will begin to find that out tonight. Then, the Phillies move on to Cincinnati to wind up the season with a two-game series. The Reds, meanwhile, meet Pittsburgh in a three-game set starting Tuesday before tackling the Phillies.

The Cardinals, who have one more game to play than the other pennant pursuers, wind up with a three-game set at home against the Mets.

The Chicago Cubs just about ended San Francisco's pennant hopes Sunday, jolting the Giants twice 4-1 and 4-2 and dropping them 4 1/2 games back with six left. Houston defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 1-0 in 12 innings in the other game.

In the American League, Washington edged the New York Yankees 3-2 in 11 innings. Baltimore blanked Cleveland 4-0, the Chicago White Sox defeated Boston 3-0 and Minnesota downed the Los Angeles Angels 3-1.

The Reds completed Operation Overhaul behind the hitting of Frank Robinson and Vada Pinson, grabbing the league lead for the first time since the opening week of the season.

In the first game, Robinson singled in the fourth inning, stole second, went to third on a wild throw and scored on a sacrifice fly by Deron Johnson for the first run. Then, in the eighth, he slammed a two-run double.

Pinson took over in the nightcap as the Reds struck for all their runs in the first inning, crashing a two-run triple following a single by Pete Rose and Chico Ruiz' double. Pinson then scored on a double by Johnson.

That proved more than enough for Joey Jay, who evened his record at 11-11 with a five-hitter. Jim O'Toole, 17-7, won the opener with relief help from Sammy Ellis in the ninth.

Lee Maye, Felipe Alou and Joe Torre were the main perpetrators of the mauling that gave the Braves a sweep of the four-game series against the Phillies and left Philadelphia without a victory in its final home stand.

Not even three homers by Johnny Callison could offset the shelling.

Tony Cloninger got the victory for an 18-14 record while Jim Bunning, 18-7, took the loss.

Powers Rallies But Bows 24-19

POWERS-SPALDING — The Powers-Spalding Tigers staged a fabulous fourth quarter rally here Saturday but it fell short as Coach Tom Lequia's grid-ers bowed to Pembine 24-19 in Wolverine Conference action.

Pembine built up a 24-0 lead in the first three quarters before the Tigers bounced back with three touchdowns in the final seven and a half minutes of the game.

Tom Kelly and Earl Neargath scored for the Panthers in the first quarter and Al Dunlap passed to Clayton Jenkins in the second. Burry Venstra scored on a 19 yard run to make it 24-0 in the third period.

Dale Sharkey recovered a Pembine fumble on the 24 yard line to get the Tigers moving. Dave Smith punched over from the two. Minutes later Herman Kleiman passed to Mike Nelson for a nine yard TD to cut the deficit to 24-12. Seven plays later Kleiman tossed a 20 yard pass to Nelson to the seven yard line and Kleiman ran it over from scrimmage. Smith sneaked for the point to make it 24-19 and Pembine then ran out the clock.

Kleiman and Nelson were the defensive standouts for the Tigers. Powers-Spalding gained 66 yards rushing and added 67 passing while Pembine gained 101 on the ground and 43 in the air.

The victory was Pembine's second straight and the setback was the second in a row for the Tigers.

Pack Invades Tiger Stadium

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions will have to beat the Green Bay Packers tonight if they are to remain in a first-place deadlock with the Los Angeles Rams in the National Football League's Western Division.

The Rams defeated the Minnesota Vikings 22-13 Sunday. Los Angeles is 2-0-1, Detroit 1-0-1, and since ties don't count both are 1.000.

Much of the attention in tonight's clash will be on the first head-to-head meeting of the Packers' Paul Hornung and the Lions' Alex Karras.

Each was suspended for betting and missed the 1963 season. Hornung has made a so-far brilliant comeback and Karras has been his usual rugged self in spearheading the Lions defense.

This will mark the first time since 1950 that the teams have met on Thanksgiving Day. Packers coach Vince Lombardi said he didn't want his team to play on Thanksgiving because it didn't give him enough time to drill them properly.

TOM GRENFELL, left, and Norm Dahlke retained their trap and skeet shooting championships in the Delta County Sportsmen's Club matches held Sunday under adverse wind conditions. Grenfell won his third straight trap crown with 42 of 50 birds with John Coan the runnerup with 38. Dahlke topped the skeet field with 23 straight and a total of 40 out of 50, edging runnerup John Hornblad who broke 39. (Gordon Sullivan Photo)

Patriots Swipe Six Jet Aerials

NEWTON, Mass. (AP)—Coach Mike Holovak watched his Boston Patriots make 22 points worth of pass interceptions, then said in disbelief:

"I never dreamed we would win the first three games of the season and not be in first place alone."

He was referring to the fact that the 26-10 triumph over the New York Jets Sunday only pulled his club into an Eastern Division tie with Buffalo, the only other unbeaten team left in the American Football League.

Both are 3-0.

The Bills crushed San Diego 30-3 in a Saturday night game to keep their record clean. In Sunday's other games Houston trampled Denver 38-17 and Kansas City rallied with two fourth-quarter touchdowns to defeat Oakland 21-9. Kansas City's victory put the Chiefs at the top of the Western Division with a 1-1 mark.

"There's no question about it. Our defense did it all," Holovak

Bruton To Quit Baseball After Current Season

DETROIT (AP)—Billy Bruton will never realize two goals he set for himself when he became a major league ballplayer 12 years ago.

But he felt another goal—that of educating his four children—was more important and announced Sunday that he would retire as a member of the Detroit Tigers at the end of the season to take a sales staff job with the Chrysler Corp. in Detroit.

"I would have loved to hit .300 at least once and to have played in an All-Star game," said Bruton, who played eight years at Milwaukee before coming to the Tigers in 1961.

"Baseball has been very good to me and I probably could have played three or four more years," he continued. "But maybe then this job wouldn't be available. My children come first."

The 39-year-old Bruton completed his career before the home fans Sunday by slamming a home run in Detroit's 3-0 victory over Boston.

His pinch-hit single Saturday sparked another Detroit rally which led to victory.

The Tigers' press book lists Bruton as being 34 years old. But he finally admitted his age—he'll be 39 in December—in announcing his retirement.

Bruton, who has a .272 lifetime batting average, hit .289 for the Braves in 1959. His best year for home runs came with the Tigers in 1961 when he hit 17.

He was the league's leading pinch-hitter last year with a .500 average on six hits in a dozen appearances.

Detroit Manager Charlie Dressen, who also managed Bruton in Milwaukee, said "if there ever was a player with 'class,' it is Billy Bruton. I hate to see him pulling off his uniform but I know that he is interested in getting started in his new career in business."

Bruton will also act as a part-time scout for the Tigers but said he wasn't sure how much time he would be able to devote to that job until he gets settled in his new position.

Rookie pitcher Joe Sparra set the Red Sox down on four hits in recording his second shutout of the season Sunday. The victory evened his record at 5-5.

Al Kaline had three hits, two of them doubles, to pace the attack.

The Tigers open a four-game series with a two-night double-header at New York Tuesday.

Tigers Rehire Chuck Dressen

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Tiger Manager Charlie Dressen "has done the job he was hired to do," said General Manager James A. Campbell as he announced Dressen had signed a 1965 contract.

The players know that he expects them to play the best baseball they are capable of playing—and do it every day," Campbell added.

Campbell and Tiger owner John E. Fetzer announced the one-year agreement Saturday. They said the present coaching staff will return next year, with one exception.

Mike Roarke, a Tiger catcher since 1961, will replace Wayne Blackburn. Fetzer said Blackburn will manage a Detroit Class AA farm club.

Terms of the 66-year-old Dressen's contract were not disclosed. He became Tiger manager in June, 1963, replacing Bob Scheffing, who is now a Tiger broadcaster.

Next year will be Dressen's 15th season as a major league manager. He headed teams in Cincinnati, Brooklyn, Washington and Milwaukee before coming to the Tigers, and collected a lifetime record of 932 major league victories against 96 losses.

Two pass thefts by Boston inside its own five prevented two Jets' scores. Interceptions also set up a touchdown and field goal for the Patriots, a 22-point difference in the outcome.

One of the interceptions, by Ron Hall, resulted in a 61-yard field goal by Gino Cappelletti. This one was a 26-yarder that broke a 10-10 tie and put the Pats ahead for good. In the second half Babe Parilli threw a second 59-yard scoring pass that helped put the icing on the cake.

Rigney Signs 1965 Contract

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bill Rigney won't reveal the terms of the contract he has signed to manage the Los Angeles Angels again in 1965, but he says he isn't being overpaid.

"Most managers make between $30,000 and $50,000 a year," he says, "and after they reach a certain plateau it seems that they can't go any higher."

The 46-year-old former big league infielder signed his new contract Sunday.

Third Straight Win Since Opening Loss

The Escanaba Eskymos piled up a 14-0 first half lead over the Stephenson Eagles here Saturday and then needed a fourth quarter touchdown to secure a 21-7 decision in Great Lakes Conference action.

The underdog Eagles battled back from their half-time deficit with a TD late in the third period and trailed 14-7 when Eskymo halfback Jim Clairmont applied the clincher by intercepting a Dave Bush aerial, thrown into the teeth of driving wind. Escanaba quickly punched out their third touchdown of the contest to setback at Menominee.

It was a case of the Eskymos dominating the first half of the game, in which they allowed Stephenson across midfield only once, and the Eagles rallying to threaten through the second half.

The extremely adverse weather conditions played a big part in the battle, with a gale-like wind sweeping the Escanaba gridiron and a driving rain pelting the turf in the late stages.

The Eskymos won in spite of numerous miscues which could have proved more costly. They lost the ball three times on fumbles, twice on pass interceptions and had one punt blocked. The Eagles had two passes intercepted, lost one fumble and made a costly mistake on a bad pass from center early in the game.

That snap came in the first quarter when the Eagles had their backs to their own goal line on a punting situation. Escanaba took possession on the Stephenson 17 and drove in for the first touchdown in six plays. Clairmont banged over from the one and Carl Olson kicked the point to make it 7-0.

Escanaba boosted its margin to 14-0 by driving 38 yards in nine plays after a short Stephenson punt into the wind early in the second quarter. Chuck Brookes slanted in from the one yard line and Olson converted.

Bob Nerat, a Stephenson defensive standout through the game, intercepted a Mike Gaffner pass late in the second period and the half ran out with the Eagles just across the midfield stripe.

The third frame was highlighted by Nerat's block of a punt by Gaffner, the Eagles hopping on the ball on the Esky 24.

The Eagles had taken to the air in desperation after failing to crack the Esky ground defense. Bush and halfback Paul Dougovito alternated in the throwing department. After the blocked punt, the Eagles tossed four passes and failed to make the first down, but the Eskymos were unable to move and punted. Dougovito ran the punt 10 yards to the 25 and shook lose for 14 more on the first play from scrimmage. Bush then hit end Earl Phillips with a 13 yard scoring pass and Gerry Lutri kicked the point to make it 14-7.

The Eskymos ripped back on the following kickoff with Bob Haack returning the ball 30 yards to his own 40, and getting another 155 on the point to make it 14-7.

Toronto Beats Winnipeg Team

WINNIPEG (AP)—The Toronto Argonauts capitalized on a recovered fumble and a blocked kick to fashion a 36-24 Canadian Football League victory over the Winnipeg Blue Bombers Sunday.

Kalamazoo took a 14-6 decision from host Lake Forest (Ill.) and Hillsdale fought home team St. Norbert to a 7-7 standoff.

But in other games away, Michigan State bowed to North Carolina 21-15. Wayne State was downed by Allegheny 7-0, Michigan Tech lost to Moorehead (Minn.) 3-2. Hope was beaten by Wheaton (Ill.) 8-0. Alma dropped a game to Ashland (Ohio) 21-7, and Olivet lost 20-7 to North Central (Ill.).

Central Michigan tamed Western Michigan 18-6 in a rain-swept major upset at Western's Kalamazoo corral.

tackle when the Eagles committed a personal foul. Escanaba drove to the Stephenson 17 before stalling. When the Eagles took over, Bush pitched for Dougovito across the middle and Clairmont intercepted. Three plays later Gaffner went the final yard and Olson's placement made it 21-7 with six and a half minutes remaining in the game.

Bill Boyce recovered a Stephenson fumble at midfield but Phillips intercepted an Escanaba pass in the closing minutes of action. The Eskymos had the ball deep in Stephenson territory at the final gun.

Brookes was Escanaba's leading ground gainer with 63 of the 155 yards compiled by 10 backs. The Eskymos added 21 yards on three completions in 10 passes.

Dougovito carried 54 yards in 18 trips, but his running mates lost yardage and the Eagles finished with a net 46 rushing. Although they filled the air with 28 passes, the Eagles hit on only eight of them for 58 yards.

The Eskymos will return to action Friday night at Marquette while Stephenson hosts Gladstone Saturday.

Central Michigan tamed Western Michigan 18-6 in a rain-swept major upset at Western's Kalamazoo corral.

Michigan teams staying home and ending up on the fat side were Michigan, which defeated Air Force 24-7; Detroit, which beat Toledo 22-6; Northern Michigan, which whipped Southeast Missouri 24-0; Eastern, which turned back Adrian 7-0 and won its first opener in 11 seasons, and Albion, which licked Ferris State 21-7.

Terry Nyquist and Dennis Gorsline starred in Northern's victory. Nyquist passed for 102 yards, kicked two extra points and a field goal, and fired a 23-yard scoring pass. Gorsline rushed for 55 yards and racked up a nine-yard touchdown. Dave Fleet dived for the other Northern score.

Michigan Tech's odd 3-2 loss to Morehead State in Minnesota resulted from a first-quarter Husky fumble turned into a 17-yard field goal and a Morehead decision to give up a two-point safety rather than punt in the fourth quarter.

Crusaders Protect Unblemished Goal Against Mustangs

Holy Name's stone wall defense and Frank Trotter's accurate right flipper added up to an easy 31-0 victory over the Munising Mustangs at the Gladstone gridiron Saturday afternoon.

The triumph was Holy Name's third straight this season and Coach Bob Nystrom's Crusaders maintained their unblemished defensive record.

The setback was the fourth straight for Munising, a team that has not scored a touchdown this season.

Defensive signal caller Tom Bartol and big Eugene Fregetto were the gang leaders for the fierce Holy Name defensive unit. Other major stopper specialists were Tom Mein and Tom Almonroeder.

Coach Bill Earl's invading Mustangs failed to dent the Crusader defense on the ground or in the air. They completed only two passes, both for short yardage. Munising did not stage a serious scoring threat in the contest.

Trotter was in good throwing form with Bill Menard his favorite receiver. The slick operating quarterback pitched nine passes and completed six, good for 101 yards and three touchdowns. In addition, Trotter crossed up Munising's defense on four keepers, rambling for 57 yards from scrimmage.

Holy Name backs had a field day, rolling up 281 yards in 34 carries. Although he got his hands on the ball only four times, halfback Tom Mein scored 96 yards and scored the first Crusader touchdown. Mein also was the leading tackler for Holy Name with 13.

Munising took the opening kickoff but failed to develop a drive and booted.

Midway in the opening period the Crusaders moved the ball out to midfield and Tom Mein exploded off tackle, bounced off two linebackers and sped 45 yards to paydirt. Trotter kicked the extra point.

Following Mein in the rushing department were Trotter with 57 yards, O'Connell 50, Bob Bricco 44, and four others with a combined 34 yards.

Holy Name will return to action Saturday night at Alpena Catholic Central.

Spartan Rally Comes Too Late

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State coach Duffy Daugherty frow down smiling and telling jokes on his plane trip to Chapel Hill.

He came back complaining about calls by officials after his Spartans were thoroughly thumped by the Tar Heels of North Carolina, 21-15.

MSU, the heavy favorite, staged a brilliant fourth period comeback, but it was too little and too late.

Next Saturday the Spartans will play Southern California at East Lansing. Led by a dazzling quarterback performance by Craig Fertig, the Trojans overwhelmed Oklahoma, the nation's No. 2 rated team, by 40-14.

"Don't be surprised if Southern Cal will be rated No. 1 after that show," Daugherty commented. "I saw a little bit of the movies of that game, and this is one of the fastest teams I've seen in years."

Next after Southern Cal on MSU's list is Michigan—the traditional rival. Bump Elliott won his opener handily by overcoming Air Force 24-7.

Duffy is still hopeful that he can pull a few surprises in these next two games.

"We started the season on a dismal note," he admitted. "We waited much too long before we got organized. But any team that can come back as we did after a 21-point deficit can't be all bad."

Daugherty and his aides were running and re-running game movies Sunday night in an effort to spot mistakes.

"Everything went wrong," explained Daugherty after one showing.

"North Carolina had a great third-down effort, and we didn't come to on key plays."

Daugherty said he was encouraged by the role played by sophomores in the fourth-period spurt.

Halfback Clint Jones, who ripped up the middle for a 42-yard touchdown run, will have more chances to run, Daugherty promised. Also outstanding, he said, was the pass snatching of Gene Washington, the target for Steve Juday's throw that made the other MSU touchdown.

Daugherty offered no apologies for his charge out on the field to argue with officials.

"We were going for a first down," he explained. "We had it made. Then when the referee turned his back that North Carolina player nudged the ball back with his foot. Everyone in the stands and on the bench and up in the pressbox saw it."

"I tried to get the attention of the officials from the bench. But they didn't see me waving and shouting, so when I finally ran out on the field we got the down and I got the 15-yard penalty."

Mickey Rallies To Keep Crown

VISALIA, Calif. (AP)—Mickey Wright of San Diego is still the defending champion of the Ladies Professional Golf Association Tournament.

Miss Wright, trailing by three strokes going into the final 18 holes Sunday, rallied with birdies on four of the last five holes. She finished with a four day total of 284, edging Shirley Englehorn of Caldwell, Idaho, by one stroke.

Marlene Hagge of Eureka, S.D. captured third place with 286.

Pressure Is On Chuck McKinley

CLEVELAND (AP)—The pressure is on Chuck McKinley today in America's faltering bid to keep the Davis Cup—and the 5-foot-8, 160-pound bundle of bounce from San Antonio, Tex., loves it.

"This is the kind of situation I like—I'm looking forward to it," McKinley said of his impending match with the formidable Roy Emerson of Australia which will decide the residence of the big tennis bowl for the next year.

McKinley and Emerson clash this afternoon on the green clay court of Clark Stadium in the fifth and deciding match of the Davis Cup Challenge Round, postponed from Sunday because of rain and cold.

The battle will break the 2-2 tie which resulted when Fred Stolle, Australia's No. 2 man, beat Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., in a stirring five-setter Sunday 7-5, 6-3, 3-6, 9-11, 6-4.

Most observers felt that America's hopes of retaining the cup went down with Ralston because Emerson is believed unbeatable among the present crop of amateurs.

"I don't think so," McKinley said. "Certainly, Roy should be favored over me, but I feel he can be beaten."

"I'm in an excellent spit. If I lose, people will shrug their shoulders and say I was supposed to. If I win, I'm a hero. I intend to go out there and play a heck of a match."

Vic Seixas, the U.S. captain, said he thought McKinley has a very good chance.

Emerson, a 27-year-old Queenslander, has clearly established himself as the world's No. 1 amateur. He has won the Australian, Wimbledon and United States championships. He has won 47 matches in a row since he was beaten in the semifinals of the French tournament by Italy's Nicola Pietrangeli.

Furthermore, he has been something of a nemesis to McKinley, beating the chunky Trinity University graduate in five of their seven head-to-head meetings, all on grass.

Butler Retires As Meter Reader

Ray Butler of Engadine turned in his electric meter books and decided to take it easy for a change. Ray is only 75 years old and has been reading meters for Edison Sault Electric Co. for over the past 30 years.

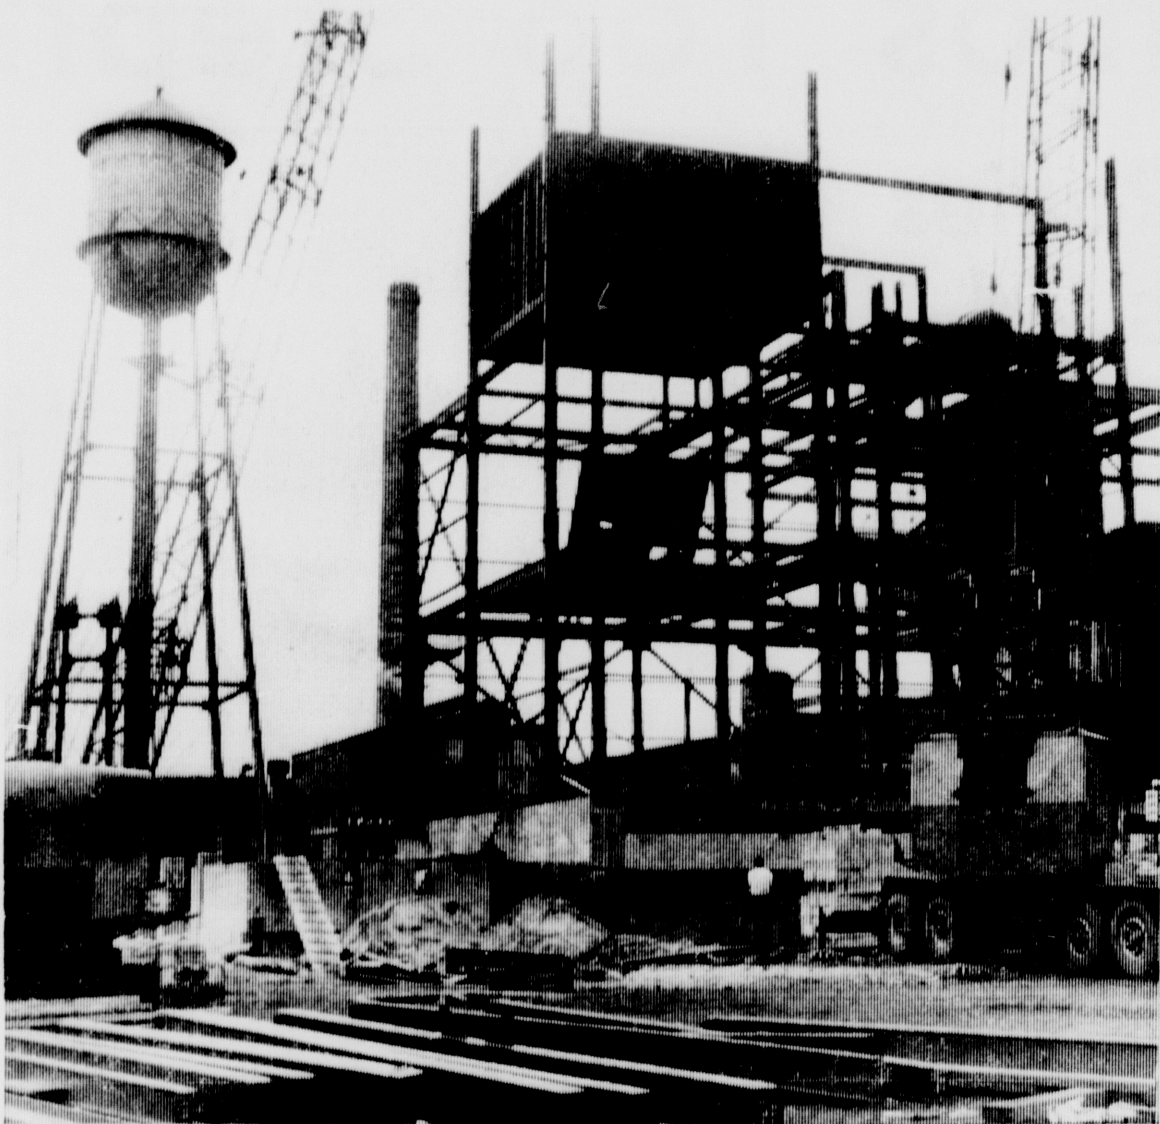

Butler took on reading of meters and collecting bills back in April 1934 for the Edison Sault, about the time Edison Sault began to service the electric needs of the Engadine area. He coiled out his working years with a confident expression for the future in his retirement request, "If I can be of any service in the future, it will be a great pleasure, I assure you".

Stay-In-School Effort Started

A pre-tested statewide program to reduce school drop-outs and unemployment among young people was "kicked off" today at a meeting in Marquette.

Michigan State University's U.P. Extension Director Dr. A. S. Mowery says the program is designed to get at the source of the educational problem.

"The effort will reach into every community in every county of the Upper Peninsula and the state," Mowery stressed, adding that every citizen will be motivated to take action—even if it simply means keeping Junior in the classroom until he's earned his high school diploma. "The program will get priority attention from all 38 of the county and district M.S.U. staff members," Mowery said.

The statewide project is based on a pilot program which was conducted in six Michigan counties. M.S.U. staffers from Delta County will report results of one of the pilot projects which was introduced there last winter.

Addressing the Extension workers today were Dr. Arthur Mauch, M.S.U. economist and chairman of a national committee that has developed a set of basic study materials; Dr. Wm. J. Kimball who heads up Michigan's guidance committee for the human resources project; Dr. Duane Gibson, head of M.S.U.'s Institute for Community Development; Dr. Del Dyer of the state 4-H Club office; Mrs. Miriam Kelley, M.S.U. program leader, family living.

Through study - discussion sessions, the project will reach neighborhood groups of 10 to 12 people.

A central guidance committee will be formed in each county with the aid of the local Extension Service staff. Such a committee has been functioning in Delta County since March.

Each central committee will recruits 50 to 75 citizen leaders who will be trained by the county staff in three meetings covering the topics, "People, Jobs and Growth," "Education

Queen Elizabeth Ends Parliament; Elections Next

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II has signed a proclamation formally ending the longest peacetime British Parliament in 58 years. This officially launched a general election campaign and closed the epic political career of Sir Winston Churchill.

The queen acted at a special meeting of the Privy Council in Buckingham Palace. A new House of Commons will form after the Oct. 15 election.

The monarch interrupted a vacation at her Scottish retreat, Balmoral Castle, and flew back to London for the occasion. The old Parliament was the first to run its full term in time of peace since the term was reduced from seven years to five years before World War I.
